HICKSON QUILTS;
ATTACKS KEGEL,
JUSTICE OLSONCity Psychiatrist
Blames Politics.

(Picture on page 5.)
Dr. William J. Hickson, head of the psychopathic laboratory of the municipal court, yesterday offered his resignation from that position, which he has held during the sixteen years the department has been in existence. His resignation and that of his wife, who has been his assistant, were contained in a letter denouncing two officials of the court and a member of the mayor's cabinet.

Both resignations, Dr. Hickson charged in his letter sent to Mayor Thompson, were forced by the "vicious designs and machinations" of Chief Justice Olson and Clerk Kearns of the Municipal court and of Health Commissioner Kegel.

Letter Hits at Olson.

"Judge Olson has tried to monopolize and exploit the laboratory for his own personal aggrandizement," wrote Dr. Hickson from New York, where he is on vacation. "Rather than have the public eventually learn that the laboratory would exist much better without him he seeks to destroy it and looks about for a victim with whom he was unfriendly to lay it on."

"Kegel fell into the trap, led on by his stupidity. His reward was the seizure of the life studies of Mrs. Hickson and myself, covering years of costly research. In the most cowardly manner, as soon as my back was turned after I left on my vacation, Kegel rushed the laboratory."

Kearns Called a Tool.

"Kearns and his assistant, his sister-in-law, Mary Seely, who were always opposed to the laboratory, were the willing tools of Olson in this job."

"Both Olson and Kearns are eliminated, which I think may be confidently looked for at the spring primary, and Kegel is rendered innocuous, a resumption of duties is unthinkable."

"Kegel commanded Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe to come up to the laboratory and break open the door of the closet where we had been keeping some of the records of our years of toil and research, but he refused to be a party to such unnecessary and high handed proceedings."

"Judge Says He's Surprised."
Chief Justice Olson expressed surprise at Dr. Hickson's action. Hickson, he said, had not managed the laboratory well with reference to the office of the Municipal court clerk to whom the employees should have reported. The judge declared Dr. Hickson had failed to make an annual report to him.

"Dr. Hickson treated the laboratory as a private affair, as a physician would use his own office," said Judge Olson. "The clerk was told by him not to report to Mr. Kearns and two who did were discharged by him. Later they were reinstated and I suppose that Hickson assumed that he would be fired on his return Monday."

Kegel Replies to Charges.

"Three months ago I tried to get Dr. Hickson to change his program to meet the approval of the judges," said Dr. Kegel, who is the nominal head of the laboratory. "He carried out my suggestions to some extent but not enough to make the desired change. I want the laboratory to be recognized by the United States Mental Hygiene association and other national psychiatric organizations."

An examination of the laboratory records, according to Dr. Kegel, showed that of 2,913 persons examined in the last two and a half years by Hickson none was found normal. No records were found which would substantiate such a high percentage of insane persons among those referred to the laboratory for examination, the health commissioner declared.

"Approximately 45 per cent of the names sent to the psychopathic hospital by Hickson were dismissed there as being insane," Dr. Kegel said.

REACH ACCORD ON BASIS FOR
5-POWER PACTConference Will Be Held in December.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 13.—[Special.]—Preliminary arrangements for a five power conference to curtail battleships, aircraft carrier, cruiser, destroyer and submarine tonnage have been completed by the United States and Great Britain, it was disclosed today. Washington officials expect the conference will be held early in December, either in London or Washington.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson announced today that the two powers are now ready to go ahead at once and that the call for the conference will be issued as soon as the proposed parley has been discussed with Japan, France and Italy. Such matters as have not been settled by Ambassador Charles G. Dawes and Ramsey MacDonald, the British premier, in their conversations on a tentative naval reduction agreement are of such a nature that they can be handled by the formal conference, Secretary Stimson said.

Purpose of Conference.

The 1929 conference is intended to reduce and stabilize the major world navies and achieve a so-called parity between the United States and Great Britain by 1936. If it is successful this government anticipates another conference will be held in 1936, when greater reductions in armaments will be effected.

The aims of the Hoover-MacDonald program, as outlined today, are:

1. To reduce the total naval tonnage now existing throughout the world.
2. To reduce naval expenditures by billions.
3. To eliminate competition in naval armaments, which the Washington conference failed to do.
4. To build stronger foundations for world peace.

It was further disclosed that, if the purpose of the 1929 conference is achieved, part of the American and British battleship replacement programs, scheduled to begin in 1931, will be postponed until 1934.

Would Leave Britain in Lead.

If final agreement is reached at the formal conference to postpone the battleship replacement program, Great Britain's present superiority in modern battleships as typified in the Rodney and Nelson, the most powerful capital ships in the world, will be continued for at least another six years.

The preliminary naval reduction agreement, which has been completed with the exception of one important angle of the cruiser question, visualizes a reduction of from 250,000 to 200,000 tons from the combined cruiser, destroyer and submarine fleets of Great Britain and the United States.

The greatest slash would be in destroyer tonnage, of which the United States would lose around 150,000 tons. The U. S. would have less cruiser tonnage also, though the stated aim is "parity."

The Stimson disclosure that the United States and Great Britain are now prepared for a formal naval conference climaxed twelve weeks of continuous negotiations between Premier MacDonald and President Hoover, with Ambassador Dawes acting as intermediary. It means that after long effort the two powers have now agreed upon the principles which will be proposed to Japan, France and Italy, as the ones which will govern the treaty negotiations at a later parley.

Principles Agreed Upon.

These principles are:

1. The United States and Great Britain are to have parity in naval ships.
2. Parity between the United States and Great Britain is to be achieved by 1936.
3. Parity is to be arrived at by separate categories of ships, that is, battleships, aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers and submarines; the United States and Great Britain to have parity or equal strength in each category.
4. Replacement of capital ships to be delayed, at least in part.

Normally the United States and Great Britain would begin replacement of old battleships in 1931.

Warrants charging conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses were issued yesterday by Judge Truitt in the felony court against eleven officials of the Illinois Automobile club, 8 North Dearborn street. The complaint was made by Grover Mulvaney, an investigator for the state's attorney's office.

The original complaint was made to Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller by Attorney Carl D. Pretzel, attorney for the Automobile Club of Illinois, 5600 Sheridan road. It is alleged that the officials of the Illinois Automobile club misled prospects into believing that they are connected with the older club. The warrants are for Carl A. Barrett, president; J. D. Justice Dietz
of Accident

Moline, Ill., Sept. 13.—[Special.]—Cyrus E. Dietz, justice of the Illinois Supreme court, died at 1:22 p. m. today from shock and internal injuries he sustained a few hours earlier when his horse, sideswiped by an automobile truck, swerved and threw him to the ground. He was taken to the Lutheran hospital, where physicians tried hard to revive him, but he sank gradually until he died.

Justice Dietz was a heavy man, in his youth being the full back of the Northwestern university football team, and he was thrown so forcefully to the pavement that his leg was fractured at the point of an old break. Physicians said internal hemorrhages had also been caused then. His physical condition had been none too good, it was stated, due to an operation he underwent about eight months ago.

Was Riding with Nephew.

The justice was riding this morning with his nephew, Carl Dietz. He was in good spirits, his nephew said, and chatted as they cantered along, when suddenly the elder man was unseated as the truck struck the horse.

The funeral will be conducted from Justice Dietz's late residence here in Moline at 3 p. m. Sunday.

Justice Dietz was 64 years old, born at Osgood, Ill., on March 17, 1875. He is survived by his widow and one son, Hunter Dietz. Years of successful law practice in Chicago and Moline culminated last November in his nomination and election to the Supreme bench. Justice Dietz was graduated from Northwestern university law school. His early years of practice were in the office of the late former Mayor William E. Dever, who preceded him to the grave by only a week. He was several times retained as special counsel for the state and only a year ago represented Illinois in the lake levels litigation before the United States Supreme court.

Previous Accident Due to Horse.

Strangely enough it was an accident in which a horse figured that brought about a fracture and injuries to the leg that was again broken yesterday. About ten years ago Judge Dietz was sitting in an open automobile in Moline when a runaway horse reared and plunged its hoofs upon him.

When news of Justice Dietz's death reached political circles it was stated that County Judge Paul Samuel of Jacksonville, Morgan county, probably would be his successor. In cases where a Supreme court justice has less than one year to serve the governor may appoint a successor. Judge Samuel's name for a long period deadlocked the convention which nominated Dietz.

Council Acts
to Force New Rail Stations

Aroused by the failure of railroad companies to proceed with the relocation and construction of new terminals facilities along the southern edge of the loop district, members of the council railway terminals committee yesterday adopted two resolutions demanding that the railroads show definite evidence of progress within thirty days. Unless such a program is submitted the committee expressed its intention of asking the council to carry out the contemplated street system improvement project in the area without further delay.

Requests of the railroads for renewal of privileges that have to be obtained through the council will be refused, if the committee's action is approved by the council on Sept. 25, the council said. They pointed out that the requested terminal improvements have been delayed for fifteen years.

Five Points in Resolutions.

The propositions embodied in the two resolutions are as follows:

1. Notify the Western Union Railroad company that steps will be taken to have the company's tracks across Plymouth court and Taylor street removed unless it can show within thirty days that negotiations are being made for improved terminal facilities.
2. Request the Illinois Central company to present information relative to its efforts to obtain tenants for its proposed station on the lake front.

The committee then will determine if the Illinois Central should be instructed to proceed at once with the proposed terminal or be held in default in its obligations under the 1913 lake front ordinance.

3. Request the New York Central and Rock Island railroads to present plans for a new passenger station within thirty days.

4. Notify the Baltimore and Ohio Chicago Terminal company that the city is proceeding with steps to open the south side streets and that the company officials should appear before the committee if they have any objections.

5. Notify the railroads that the council desires the distatory tactics employed by them and that it is the intention of the council to refuse requests for renewals of privileges.

Planned for 15 Years.

Extension southward of several loop streets, now blocked at Van Buren street by the railroads, has been one of the plans of the council for the last fifteen years, the alderman said. The river straightening project with its supplementary relocation of railroad tracks to provide routes for the new streets has been progressing under the city's direction.

A street improvement plan, adopted by the council on Jan. 10, 1913, provides for the opening of La Salle, Wells, and Franklin streets to the south side. Work on the project has been delayed because railroads have not determined the sites of the proposed new terminal and what railroads would use the facilities.

The continued railroad occupation of the south side territory in the present manner has been a serious detriment to the proper development of that district, said the resolutions, which were given to the committee by Chairman Edward J. Kaindl [34th]. The $3,500,000 which the river straightening project will cost the city will be lost, the resolutions said, unless a rearrangement of the terminal facilities in the territory is brought about or a system of streets opened.

HUNT BODIES OF ANDASTE CREW
LOST IN STORMBattered Cabin Door
Identifies Boat.

The fate of the crew of 25 men aboard the gravel freighter Andaste, missing since Monday, was found yesterday on the waters of Lake Michigan. Three pieces of wreckage floating 14 miles off Holland, Mich., told searchers that the steamer had lost its battle with a violent storm last Monday night and had gone to the bottom with all hands.

The wreckage—a water tank, a door from the captain's cabin, and pieces of the inside trim of the cabin—were found yesterday morning by Capt. George Van Hall, master of the fish-carrying tug Bertha G. but he did not reach his port with the news of the Andaste's fate until yesterday afternoon, when he took the wreckage by truck to Grand Haven.

Extensive Search in Vain.

Meanwhile every coast guard crew on the southern half of Lake Michigan, airplanes from the Great Lakes naval training station, private yachts and hundreds of small boats had continued their search for the steamer without finding a trace of it.

The battered door of the cabin of Capt. Albert Anderson of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., told plainly the ferocity of the storm which the Andaste encountered a few hours after leaving Grand Haven Monday morning with a cargo of gravel for the Lockport Materials company of Chicago. The panels were splintered and it apparently had been ripped from its hinges by the gale and the waves which lashed over the boat as it wallowed in the high sea. George Evans and Joe Collins of Grand Haven, who had been employed on the Andaste on previous trips identified the door.

Two Remains Ashore.

It had been announced on Wednesday that there were 25 men aboard the Andaste, but the roster of the crew showed only 17 men. Yesterday officials of the Construction Materials company announced that two of those listed in the crew had remained behind in Grand Haven when the ship set out on its last voyage, and that only 23 were aboard. The two left behind were Evans and Collins, who identified the wreckage.

The officers on board besides Capt. Anderson were Charles Brown of Grand Haven, mate; J. J. McCadden of Cleveland, second mate; C. J. Kibbey of Pennsylvania, third mate; Ralph Wiley of Benton Harbor, second engineer; and Harry P. Lutes of Benton Harbor, third engineer.

Members of the Crew.

Members of the crew were Frank Kasperian, cook; William John and Earl Zietlow, a 14 year old boy, off Grand Haven; J. Barry of Benton Harbor; Fred Nienhouse of Ferryburg, Mich.; W. Lorense of Manistee, Mich.; Theodore Jorgenson of Owen, Wis.; Clifford Gould of Asheville, N. C.; Harry Raymond of Chicago, Henry Schenckman of Grand Rapids, Mich., and the following, whose addresses were not listed: George Watt, E. Blue, chelt, H. Whitaker, John Anderson, M. Green, Darwin Smith, Orville Johnson, George Hatchell, and T. Godas.

Capt. Van Hall said the wreckage of the steamer was floating on the surface over an area of four or five miles, but no bodies were seen, leading sailors to believe that the entire crew had sought refuge in the cabin when the storm reached its height and that they were imprisoned there when the freighter went to the bottom. Even if they had had time to man lifeboats aboard the vessel, lake men said, their chances of weathering the gale in small open boats would have been slim.

Tugs to Hunt Bodies.

The tugs Freedom and Liberty, owned by the Construction Materials company, will put out from Holland at daybreak today to search for the bodies. It is the opinion of sailors that the Andaste went down about 25 miles off shore, somewhere near South Haven, after 11 o'clock Monday night, and the search will center along the stretch of lake between that city and Holland.

Carl Harrington, a farmer living near Holland, said he saw light floating about on the lake late Monday and that they suddenly disappeared as he watched from the beach. He thought nothing of it at the time, he said, but it was believed last night that he witnessed the Andaste's last struggle with the storm.

The coast guard crew from Holland patrolled the section of the lake between Holland and South Haven last right in the hope of picking up some of the bodies of the crew, but found nothing except a few splintered pieces of lumber which were thought to be part of the wreckage.

The discovery of the Andaste's wreckage closed a three-day hunt for the steamer and wrote another chapter to the long list of lake tragedies. After the boat had left Grand Haven on Monday it was known to have run into a severe storm and no concern was felt when it failed to dock on schedule at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at the South Chicago harbor. Officials of the Construction Materials company believed that the craft might have been forced off its course, but when no word was heard from it on Wednesday the coast guard began searching and airplanes circled over the lake hunting for the vessel.

False Report Rales Hope.

Hope was revived for a few hours Wednesday night when a ship resembling the Andaste was sighted about 30 miles out, but that hope vanished when the hours passed without its arrival.

The Andaste's fate was tragically like that of its sister ship, the Clifton, which went down in Lake Huron in 1914. The Clifton had 25 men aboard and was carrying a load of stone when it encountered the storm which sunk it.

Two other freighters, the Chicago and the Rouse Simmons, went down in Lake Michigan under similar circumstances, each with twenty-five men aboard. The Chicago sank in 1895 and the Rouse Simmons in 1910.

Capt. Anderson, the master of the Andaste, was 44 years old and had been sailing Lake Michigan for forty-eight years and had been a master of ships for thirty years. He had planned to give up sailing after this season. He is survived by his widow, a daughter, and two sons, all of Sturgeon Bay.

Ill Repute Among Sailors.

The Andaste was a wholeback steamer of steel construction and had been built in 1892. It was 246 feet long with a 38 foot beam and had a capacity of 2,000 tons. On its last trip it was carrying a cargo of 1,900 tons of gravel.

The ship had a bad reputation among great lakes sailors, according to Louis Broucek, 1504 West Cullerton street, who was a deck hand on it last season.

"We used to call the Andaste the 'Submarine,'" Broucek said. "She used to pitch and roll so much that it was hard to get a crew for her. She was seaworthy and all that, but the boys were afraid of her."

"In rough weather the water was almost always going over her and only the captain, the first mate, and the wheelman would stay on deck. They would be in the pilot house."

The Andaste had been in the service of the Materials Construction company for the last two years, having been chartered from the owner, the Andaste Steamship company of Cleveland.

U. S. Will Make Inquiry.

The Andaste was inspected on April 23 by U. S. Steamship Inspectors Bernard G. Gylfeck and Hugh Mulligan of Grand Haven and declared seaworthy at that time. Inspector Gylfeck said that an investigation of the wreck and its causes would be made, as it is customary in all cases where there is a loss of life, but he stated that no plans had been made for the investigation last night. Any action which might be taken would depend upon the results of the investigation, he said.

Inspector John F. Hansen of Chicago said that the ship had never used Chicago as its home port since he came here in 1918 and consequently he knew nothing about the steamer, none of the inspections having been made here.

Assistant State's Attorney Leonard J. Mandel turned liquor crusader yesterday and led police squads from the Chicago avenue district in raids on seven alleged speakeasies. The prosecutor dropped his court duties and led the raids on the warrants obtained from Judge John W. Schulman.

The raids netted seventeen prisoners, although liquor was obtained in only three of the places. Unusual precautions were taken to prevent any leak of the impending raids. Capt. John Ryan was recently sent into the Chicago avenue district to clean up so-called gambling and vice resorts.

Leo Mancini was arrested at 436 Rush street, and a quantity of moonshine confiscated. Sam Manal, 162 West Kinzie street, was also taken when beer and moonshine were found in his place. He is alleged to have attempted to bribe the police.

The third place in which liquor was found was at 533 North Wells street, owned by Harry Howard. The three men were charged with being keepers of disorderly houses and violation of the prohibition law. Fourteen patrons of the places were arrested and charged with being inmates.

STEALS $10,000 FROM BANK, PAYS BACK BY WINNING

But Clerk Is in Jail Just the Same.

New York, Sept. 12.—(Special.)—It's not according to copy book maxims or the most approved moral teachings, but a thief can sometimes gamble and win with stolen money.

Take the case of Lorne W. Molloy, a 29 year old clerk of the Guaranty Trust company, as it came out in Magistrate's court today.

The horses were good to Molloy—good as they seldom are to young absconding clerks with their employers' money to recoup.

July 18 he put $10,000 of the bank's funds in his pocket and went to England. Aug. 20, he sent back a draft covering the full amount and had enough left over from his winnings to make a handsome profit for himself.

Ten days ago he returned from "a good time in Europe" with bookmakers' dollars stuffing his wallet, and now the local courts are to decide whether his month's "borrowing" of his employers' cash is or is not grand larceny.

All this came out today when Molloy's lawyer entered a plea of not guilty in the Tombs court and had him liberated in $5,000 bail for a hearing Sept. 20.

Story Told by Lawyers.

Molloy's counsel told his story to newspapermen.

On July 18 Molloy made out a check, as the bank's redemption clerk, for $10,000 to be paid to the National City bank, and had it countersigned by the officials. He indorsed it for his own account in the National City, drew it out and sailed for England. It was a big betting commissioner in London who put Molloy in the way of fortune, said the lawyer. With the $10,000 the bank clerk gambled as he was told on the English race tracks and won.

Today his counsel made the argument that technically Molloy could not be considered as having committed a crime. He had returned the $10,000 before the bank discovered that such a sum was missing. No crime had been committed; therefore, how could he be held for grand larceny?

But Clerk Is in Jail Just the Same.

New York, Sept. 12.—(Special.)—It's not according to copy book maxims or the most approved moral teachings, but a thief can sometimes gamble and win with stolen money.

Take the case of Lorne W. Molloy, a 29 year old clerk of the Guaranty Trust company, as it came out in Magistrate's court today.

The horses were good to Molloy—good as they seldom are to young absconding clerks with their employers' money to recoup.

July 18 he put $10,000 of the bank's funds in his pocket and went to England. Aug. 20, he sent back a draft covering the full amount and had enough left over from his winnings to make a handsome profit for himself.

Ten days ago he returned from "a good time in Europe" with bookmakers' dollars stuffing his wallet, and now the local courts are to decide whether his month's "borrowing" of his employers' cash is or is not grand larceny.

All this came out today when Molloy's lawyer entered a plea of not guilty in the Tombs court and had him liberated in $5,000 bail for a hearing Sept. 20.

Personal property assessments for residents of Evanston were released yesterday by the board of assessors. William S. Mason leads the list with a valuation of $200,000.

In his home at 1401 Ridge avenue Mr. Mason houses one of the most extensive collections of writings and relics of Benjamin Franklin in the world. Scholars seeking information on the patriot, writer, and diplomat confer with Mr. Mason before making any commentary. His house is thrown open to the interested public and is used in research by university undergraduates.

Harding Valuation $2,500.

In contrast to the high valuation on Mr. Mason's collection, records in the assessor's office reveal that County Treasurer George F. Harding is assessed at $2,500 on his residence at 4853 Lake Park avenue, in Hyde Park. This address houses a collection of armor equaled only by that of the Metropolitan museum in New York. In addition Mr. Harding possesses many valuable antiques and art treasures. Mr. Harding exhibits his collection only to other collectors and friends.

TEXAS GIRL BANK ROBBER INSANE, HUSBAND SAYS

New Braunfels, Tex., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The peculiar actions of his wife, Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rogers, before and after she married him, has convinced her husband, Otis Rogers, that she was insane when she robbed the Farmers' National bank at Buda, Tex., in 1924.

Rogers, chief of defense counsel for his wife, took the stand at her fourth trial here today and said he still believed her mentally unbalanced.

His and Becky's Romance.

After others who had come in close contact with the defendant throughout her life, including two years at the University of Texas, had expressed the opinion that she was not sane, the youthful attorney told of his and "Becky's" romance, their secret marriage, and the hardships they have suffered since his wife robbed the bank. Rogers said he met his wife while they were students at the university.

In 1926 he was graduated from the university, Rogers said, and shortly afterward decided to go to Amarillo to practice law, leaving his wife in Austin until he was able to send for her. Here he told of his wife always being happy when he thought she should have been sad and sad when she should have been happy.

Tells What She Thinks.

Rogers testified his wife visited him in Amarillo and he asked what she thought of him. She replied, "You are all right, but you don't seem to have any sense."

The attorney then told how he had read of his wife's connection with the bank robbery, how he left a sickbed to be with her, and how he was stricken with tuberculosis and forced to go to West Texas for his health.

ALDERMEN PUT "L" VALUATION AT $95,500,000

Subcommittee Approves Sprague Report.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.
The Frankhauser subcommittee yesterday recommended to the council local transportation committee that the value of the elevated road property be fixed at $95,500,000. The vote was unanimous. Ald. Albert, who is not a member of the subcommittee, spent more than an hour arguing for a valuation of about $100,000,000. The $95,500,000 endorsed by the subcommittee had been recommended by Col. A. A. Sprague, Joshua D'Esposito and George Woodruff, who spent nine weeks investigating the subject. They recommended that figure not only for purposes of consolidation of the elevated with the surface lines, but also as a city purchase price and as a base for rate making. Maj. R. F. Keller, Jr., the committee engineer, told the aldermen that $95,500,000 "is a fair valuation."

Cites Exchange Quotation.
Ald. Albert's chief point was that the securities of the elevated were quoted on the stock exchange yesterday at an aggregate of $55,800,000.

"That figure should be considered as arriving at a value," asserted Mr. Albert.
"I'm the attorney for a group attempting to buy a concern whose stock is quoted at $25 a share," said Ald. Arvey. "I'll hire you as a lawyer, Albert. If you will get the concern to accept $50 a share for only 51 per cent of the stock."

"Would you advocate consideration of the $55 a share for the gas company stock if you were putting a city purchase price on the gas system?" Ald. Frankhauser interjected.
"What value do you recommend for the elevated properties?" asked Maj. Keller.

$95,500,000 His Estimate.
"I would say that the stock market price is, say, $80,000,000, and then split the difference between that and $95,500,000," replied Mr. Albert, "or around $80,000,000."

"Now just tell us how you stir your brains around to arrive at $80,000,000," asked Ald. Nelson. "What is your measure of value?"
"They call it a rapid transit system," replied Mr. Albert. "It isn't. The tracks between the river and Pulverton on the north side are so crooked it makes you dizzy to ride on the 'L'."

"The wooden tracks down cars aren't good for more than two or three more years. The system is antiquated. The elevated is a white elephant, and I predict the people will never approve of $95,500,000 for it. The Sprague committee says it took all these months into consideration in fixing $95,500,000 for the valuation. No committee deemed it necessary to make a reply to Ald. Albert."

To Discuss Surface Lines.
Another meeting was called for Monday, when the valuations of the surface lines will be taken up. The city's purchase price for them is approximately $164,000,000. It is improbable that the companies will accept less, and it is as certain that the aldermen will not stand for more.

On Tuesday hearings are scheduled on proposed extensions. The plan is to obtain the requests and arguments of persons and organizations interested in extensions. The first hearing has been called for 3 p. m. The following representatives of organizations have been invited:

H. H. Haylett, vice president, South Side Chamber of Commerce; Edward H. Burke, chairman of the Property Owners' Traction association; Oscar Russell, business manager, South Side Chamber of Commerce; Frank M. Stanley, president East Side Chamber of Commerce; E. J. Ryan, president South Side Chamber of Commerce; Theodore M. Becker, president Woodlawn Business Men's association; C. A. Chasman, president South Chicago club; H. V. Rosenberg, Stockyards Business and Civic association, and the Englewood Business Men's association.

In addition, every member of the city council has been requested to be present.

MAN WHO KILLED MAN WHO DRANK HELD FOR MURDER

Slayer of Schoolboy Also Accused.

Newport, Ark., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Deputy Sheriff George Johnson was indicted by the Jackson county grand jury today on first degree murder charges for the slaying last June of Glen Quay of Thayer, Mo. Johnson shot and killed Quay after the latter had been placed under arrest on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. When Quay broke and ran from the officer at the jail door, Johnson fired two shots from the effects of which the youth died a few hours later. Johnson had killed a young man in 1910 while acting as deputy sheriff. He was convicted and sentenced to serve three years for that killing, but served only a few months when pardoned. His trial is set for the November term of court.

Held to Grand Jury.
Ashland, Ala., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Cecil Guthrie, Clay county deputy sheriff, was held to the county grand jury under $5,000 bond here today following a preliminary hearing on charges of murder in the first degree in connection with the fatal shooting last Sunday of Clarence Bailey, 18 year old high school student athlete. W. Z. Alexander, Ashland chief of police, who was with Guthrie at the time of the shooting, testified that the accused officer fired three times to "frighten Bailey."

Former Dry Raider Slain.
Cleveland, O., Sept. 12.—[AP.]—Alfred Louis Tully, a former Newburgh village dry raider, was shot and critically wounded today while sitting in his automobile.

Tully, who was involved in liquor extortion plots in 1925, was approached by a swarthy man who asked him what he was doing there, talked a moment, and then fired three times, witnesses told police. The assailant fled. Tully said he believed the shooting was in revenge for his raiding activities.

SOLVE MYSTERY OF INDICTMENTS IN O'BRIEN CASE

The mystery of the finding of indictments naming James (High Pocket) O'Brien as chief defendant in the slot machine syndicate in a beer flat at 813 Cass street was solved yesterday by State's Attorney Swanson and his assistant, Henry Ayres, who has charge of this prosecution.

The indictments found were copies and not the original court files, it was explained. The police, running over the evidence taken in the raid, found the copies and thought they had originals. The originals are safe in the vaults in the office of John H. Passmore, clerk of the court. The copies were not even in the possession of the elusive O'Brien, who fled to Europe when indicted. It developed. The copies of the slot machine syndicate indictments naming O'Brien had been given by mistake to another James O'Brien, held for burglary. He or some friend must have left them in the raided beer flat, it is believed.

N. Y. CENTRAL TO HAVE NINE FAST CHICAGO TRAINS

The New York Central announced today that it would inaugurate a daily service of nine 20 hour or thereabouts trains between New York and Chicago Sept. 29.

After that date a train will leave each terminus forty minutes ahead of the Twentieth Century and will be known as "The Advance Twentieth Century Limited." A new train, "The Commodore Vanderbilt," will make the run in 20 hours, and another, "The Fast Mail," will operate only eastbound.

"The Wolverine" will be speeded up an hour to the 20 hour clip and "The Knickerbocker" and "The Lake Shore Limited" will be stepped up to 20 hours and 50 minutes.

Nobody at the offices of the Pennsylvania railroad was worried. "We're running fourteen, 20 hour trains between New York and Chicago every day," said a spokesman, "and I don't mean twenty hours and fifty minutes. Our 'Broadway Limited' makes the trip each way in 19 hours and 20 minutes."

Reunion Proposal Stands as First Offered.

Lubbock, Tex., Sept. 12.—[AP.]—Interpreting a few "subs" in emphatic fashion, Richard A. Sneed, 34, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate veterans, said here today that the southern organization would not urge any further measure than an endorsement of a reunion of the blue and gray. Sneed, who lives at Oklahoma City, came here to visit his daughter, Mrs. Fred Snyder. The action of the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in tabling a resolution looking to a reunion of the wearers of the gray and the blue was termed "characteristically un-American" by Gen. Sneed.

All Bitterness Put Aside.
The stately commander of the diminishing gray ranks said he held no ill feeling toward veterans of the northern army.

"All bitterness which I harbored immediately after the war has been obliterated in peace," he said. "I think it un-Christian, un-American, and unmanly to continue as separate forces."

Chicago Delegation Leaves.
Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—A special train with Illinois delegates to the Grand Army of the Republic convention, with sons and women numbering 175, left here this morning for Chicago. All day tomorrow will be spent at Niagara Falls and the train is scheduled to arrive in Chicago at 9:10 a. m. Sunday.

Hancock, Me., Sept. 12.—[AP.]—An airplane and 150 boats spread over a large area of Frenchman's bay and adjoining waters today in an unsuccessful search for William Reed, 19, son of Prof. Edward Bliss Reed, of Yale university, who has been missing for three days in a 19 foot sloop.

Moundsville, W. Va., Sept. 12.—[AP.]—Millard F. Morrison, 34, and Walter E. Willnot, 21, both of Elizabeth, N. J., were hanged in the state prison here tonight for slaying Frank Bowen, Lena Creek filling station proprietor, who was fatally shot last May. The traps were sprung simultaneously.

LINDBERGH INVITED TO G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT; MESSAGE UNANSWERED

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh ignored the Grand Army of the Republic by refusing to acknowledge an invitation to be their guest during the final days of the encampment this morning. Lindbergh, who is in North Haven with his bride at the summer estate of Ambassador Morrow, received a wire from Commander John Reese of Broken Bow, Neb., inviting him to the Grand Army encampment. The message was sent the flying colonel by both Postal and Western Union, but was ignored and is said to have been the only slight offered the 1,500 veterans here. Commander Reese, before retiring from his post, told newspaper men that he hoped to have a chance to meet the famous Lindy before he dies. North Haven is but a scant hour's flight from Portland, whose airport lights burned all night in expectation of the flyer's arrival. By midafternoon today most of the veterans had departed and there was no word from Lindy.

7 YOUTHS HELD TO GRAND JURY ON GIRL'S CHARGE

Seven youths were held to the grand jury yesterday in $3,000 bonds each by Judge Trade in the felony court after a 16 year old girl had identified them as the ones who assaulted her several days ago. The girl said she was lured into a garage and there attacked. William Conlon, 1550 North Lawndale avenue, was charged with having taken the girl to the garage at 3715 West Chicago avenue. The others alleged to have participated in the attack are: Edward Thompson, 3804 West Chicago avenue; Thomas Traynor, 616 North Avers avenue; Joseph Conick, 847 North Ridgeway avenue; Leo Carlson, 3651 Ferdinand street; Edward Brown, 5130 Crystal street; and Philip Haykus, 735 North Harding avenue.

PLAN 5-POWER NAVAL PARLEY IN DECEMBER

U. S. and Britain Agree on Preliminaries.

when each nation would lay down two 35,000 ton ships.

5. Reduction of ships to be gradually achieved by failing to replace certain vessels in classes where surplus exist, rather than by scrapping ships as was done at Washington in 1922.

Under the tentative agreement Great Britain would have 330,000 tons of cruisers compared with 300,000 for the United States. Destroyer tonnage for each navy would be limited to the neighborhood of 150,000 tons, a total of 157,000 tons below the present American destroyer strength. Submarine tonnage would be substantially reduced but no definite figures were made public.

Cruisers Big Problem.

The greatest difficulty experienced by the negotiators was the question of allocating cruiser tonnage to the United States and Great Britain. At present the only point left unsettled is how the United States shall build 30,000 tons of her cruiser tonnage. Great Britain wants this country to put this in 5 inch gun vessels of the type useful to Great Britain because of her many naval bases.

The United States, however, wants to put it in 8 inch guns, 10,000 ton cruisers of the type recommended by the naval general board as peculiarly fitted for American needs because of this country's lack of outlying naval bases and Great Britain's great advantage in numbers of merchant ships which may be converted into 6 inch gun cruisers in time of war.

Administration officials said that this matter was not considered of sufficient importance to warrant further postponement of the projected naval conference. If the cruiser question is not settled by the time President MacDonald arrives, it was said, it will be submitted to the conference delegates when they meet.

Keep Below 340,000 Tons.
Great Britain has agreed, it was disclosed, to hold down her cruiser tonnage below 340,000 tons. This would include fifteen 8 inch gun cruisers. The balance of the British fleet would be made up of 6 inch gun vessels after 1935. The United States now has ten Omaha class 6 inch gun cruisers built and will complete eight 8 inch gun 16,000 ton treaty cruisers within the next eighteen months. In addition, this country has ten 8 inch gun treaty cruisers appropriated for and five authorized, a total of fifteen.

Great Britain would like to limit United States 8 inch gun tonnage to 30,000 tons, but it is understood to have agreed to permit this country to have twenty ships of 3000 tons, or 200,000

Britain Hinges Disarm Pact on France, Italy and Japan

BY WAVERLEY ROOT.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Sept. 13.—With an agreement so near that Prime Minister MacDonald believes that he himself can throw out the remaining differences in a personal chat with President Hoover, the naval disarmament negotiations between the United States and Great Britain apparently have been suspended until the two statesmen meet in Washington on Oct. 5.

That is the impression prevailing here following a meeting of the cabinet at 10 Downing street tonight, when the prime minister laid before his colleagues the text of the American response to the British proposals, delivered by Ambassador Dawes last night, and outlined his plans to call for the United States on the Berengaria on Sept. 25.

U. S. Reply "Satisfactory."

The foreign office today maintained its usual silence, which has not been broken since the very start of the negotiations. When asked whether the American reply was satisfactory to Great Britain, the spokesman's only reply was that Mr. MacDonald evidently thinks so or he would not have announced his visit to Washington.

Whether President Hoover requested Great Britain to scale down its cruiser tonnage below 340,000 tons, and if so how much, in order to prevent the United States embarking on its full building program in order to reach the 300,000 tonnage, has not been hinted here.

But it is significant that a report leaked out from official circles this afternoon, and was published in Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard, to the effect that the admiralty still secured by limiting each class separately. Another reason for setting 1936 as the date of the second conference was found in the fact that many of Britain's surplus ships in cruisers would be obsolete by that date.

History of Negotiations.

Some light was thrown on the history of the negotiations today by Secretary Stimson and other Washington officials.

The decision to begin the British-American negotiations was the result of the breakdown of the three power naval reduction conference at Geneva in 1927, when the American and British delegates could not agree on cruiser limitation figures.

It was first decided to formulate a set of principles which could be used as a basis of discussion when a later five power conference was called. The first conclusion reached was that the two powers must have parity in naval strength. It was then decided to set 1936, the date when the Washington conference would expire, as the time when parity would be achieved. On that date it would be necessary to review the Washington treaty, and it was thought best to have this 1936 conference free to discuss reduction or limitation of all types of ships.

It was then decided to effect reduction and equality by categories or classes of ships. Washington and London took the view that equality in total naval strength could be best stood by its guns and would not go a ton below the 340,000 figure. It emphasized that that represented a cut of one-third the cruiser tonnage on which Great Britain insisted at Geneva two years ago as "the absolute minimum consistent with imperial safety" and that is the limit of cutting so far as the admiralty is concerned.

In Downing street today there is what one official described as "cautious optimism." He pointed out what most every one seems to have forgotten during the feverish negotiations, namely, that any agreement arrived at between the United States and Great Britain is wholly conditional on Japan, France, and Italy falling in line with the naval restrictions, which any or all three of them might reject.

It is reported here that President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald, after they have talked it over in Washington, plan to issue a joint call for a five power naval disarmament conference which would work under the divine auspices of the league of nations' preparatory disarmament commission—a group which thus far has not succeeded in reducing Europe's land armaments by a single gun.

Britain Leads Premier's Visit.
In the meantime, Mr. MacDonald's decision to go to the United States was greeted with hearty approval throughout Great Britain today. Without exception, the press of all shades of opinion applauded the step.

Mr. MacDonald, it is understood, has requested that social functions in Washington during his visit be kept to a minimum, but the papers are already writing about how Washington society is going to fête Isabel, his daughter.

officials then took their stand in favor of building the largest percentage of American cruiser tonnage in 8 inch ships.

The cruiser problem finally narrowed down to whether some 30,000 tons of this country's cruiser allotment should be built in three 10,000 ton, 8 inch gun ships or four or five 5 inch gun vessels. It was not made clear whether construction of these vessels would give the United States 285,000 tons of cruisers or 300,000 tons. The inference was that the American figure would be 300,000.

The United States agreed to permit Great Britain an important tonnage advantage in cruisers in exchange for a preponderance in 8 inch gun vessels. It now appears likely the British superiority will be 40,000 to 55,000 tons.

It was explained that age, caliber of guns and tonnage were the three factors which were used in making up the yardstick that was applied roughly to vessels in the cruiser class.

Sees Great Savings.

Secretary Stimson pointed out at his press conference today that Great Britain and the United States each has approximately 1,500,000 tons of combatant ships and stated that this figure would be shaved down considerably if the conference in December is successful. He asserted that if the aims of the conference are achieved great savings would be effected in national naval budgets, world peace would be placed on a firmer foundation and better feeling would be produced between the various powers.

Mr. Stimson said an agreement would bring about better understanding between the United States and Great Britain. In addition, he declared, the race in armaments would be off as to all classes of ships. In his opinion, the ratification of such a treaty, as is visualized by the negotiators, would stabilize world naval construction and render it possible for the American navy to make plans with a fair amount of confidence that they would be enacted into law.

PALESTINE JEWS BEGIN REBUILDING WRECKED TOWNS

Jerusalem, Sept. 13.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency.)—Plans for reconstruction of the towns and villages which suffered damage during the Arab-Jewish fighting are going forward. The Zionist executive here is constituting an advisory committee for this step by Secretary Stimson, one representative each of the National Council of Palestine Jews, the Labor federation, the Merchants' association, and the Anglo-Palestine company.

The entire relief work is being carried on under the supervision of the Zionist executive acting as the Jewish agency. Col. Frederick H. Kisch is in charge of political matters and I. Sprinkman of public information. Gerson Agronsky has been acting during the emergency period as director of information.

The curfew has begun to be lifted in Haifa, where traffic in the streets is allowed until 2 p. m. Cafes and shops are permitted to keep open until 8. The government proposed to allow movement in the streets until 10 o'clock, the Moslems suggested 9 o'clock. The Jews did not wish the curfew lifted at all.

SKY PULLMAN LAUNCHED; HITS 150 MILE SPEED

Biggest Land Plane Can Carry 32 Passengers.

Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., Sept. 13.

(AP)—The biggest land plane ever built, primarily designed for whisking sleeping passengers across the night skies at 150 miles an hour, was officially launched today.

It was the first of the Fokker F-32s, equipped to carry 32 passengers in daylight flights and 16 at night. It is destined for early installation on the transcontinental plane train system of the New York Central railroad and Universal Air Lines. Five more are under construction for Universal, and as soon as they are finished six more will be begun for Western Air Express.

With 13 persons aboard, the giant plane, which has a wing spread of 93 feet and is nearly 70 feet long, took off today after a run along Fokker field of less than 20 seconds. It climbed steeply, banked and swung in wide circles under low clouds.

First the rear two of the four engines were idled, and then the front, without loss of altitude; the speed was pushed up to 150 miles an hour, lowered to less than 100; the plane dipped and swooped and banked to demonstrate its stability in all positions, and then it dropped gently back to the muddy field.

The passengers sat four abreast, with a wide aisle running down the middle. The cabin is so high that even tall passengers can touch the ceiling when standing up. There is a kitchen and two washrooms.

Aviation Notes

Air traffic will not become congested until more than 69,000 planes try to crowd their way into the sky above one square mile of land in the opinion of Earl J. Smith, assistant to the president of the Stinson Aircraft corporation of Detroit, who spoke here yesterday at a luncheon. That number of planes could be flown on 40 different levels which would be approximately 500 feet apart. Smith expressed the belief that 1,743 airplanes could be flown on one level in one square mile of air.

The Consolidated Aircraft corporation has received an order from the United States army for 70 all-metal observation planes and for spare parts in quantity sufficient to bring the total up to the equivalent of 87 planes. The order amounts to $1,000,000.

Vernon Ramsey, a Waukegan pilot, yesterday was sworn in as a Lake county deputy sheriff. His special task will be to aid in searching for bodies along the lake front when there are drownings and pursuing fleeing robbers by airplane and directing ground searching parties to them.

The formation of Hawaiian Airways company Ltd., for the purpose of conducting a general aviation business in and between the various islands of the Hawaiian group was announced yesterday by Nathan Newby sr., head of a group of Los Angeles and Honolulu capitalists. The company plans to supplement steamship travel between the islands. William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, is one of those associated with Mr. Newby.

Abandon Milan to Chicago Flight as Too Difficult

MILAN, Italy, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The committee which has been financing a trans-Atlantic flight by airplane with a Polish crew from Milan to Chicago announced tonight it had withdrawn its backing from the enterprise. The reason given was the difficulty of the westward crossing and the impossibility of guaranteeing a sufficient cruising radius for the plane.

CANNON IS BACK; TALK IGNORES HIGH FINANCE

Would Impeach Leaders of New York.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
New York, Sept. 13.—[Special.]—Bishop James Cannon Jr. came home from Europe today. Being "out of touch" with the stock market, he had no hot tips for expectant ship news reporters, so he talked about prohibition.

The right reverend bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, departed unannounced about five weeks ago, feeling the urgent need of an air after being described as the favored customer of a stock brokerage concern alleged to be a bucket shop. He returned this noon aboard the Berengaria.

"Are you going to plunge right into the market again?" the bishop was asked.

The cleric frowned like a man who has been eating persimmons before the frost touched them. It seemed as if the interview was over.

"Would Impeach Banton."

The ship news reporters saw that the man had nothing to say. As is customary in such cases, they began moving away. The bishop thought fast.

"Grover Whalen ought to be impeached," he triumphantly announced. Grover being New York's police commissioner, among other things, the reporters hesitated, and were lost.

"Now, if I were governor of this state," remarked the big gun of the Anti-Saloon league, "I would do something about New York's speakeasies. Both Mr. Whalen and District Attorney Josh H. Banton have failed to fulfill their oaths of office. Isn't that a matter for impeachment?"

The bishop apparently was referring to the fact that both Mr. Whalen and Mr. Banton have refused to act on data concerning New York's 33,000 third quenching parlors supplied by Prohibition Administrator Maurice Campbell. Mr. Banton considered the information of a "gossip character" and Mr. Whalen even suggested that Mr. Campbell take care of the situation himself, the law being federal law.

Says It Is "Shameful."
"Hain't any one called this to the attention of Gov. Roosevelt?" asked Bishop Cannon.

He was advised no public communication had been made.

"Shameful," he barked, "the governor should have called these two officials to Albany and said: 'Here, men, what do you mean?' The New York Anti-Saloon league will take up this matter and there will be echoes in Albany. We shall demand impeachment."

league, the impeachment threat has something behind it.

Mr. Banton, when informed this afternoon of the plunging bishop's threat, did not even quote a verse of the scripture. When Mr. Banton is perturbed he always quotes the line: "The wicked fleeeth when no man pursueth." This afternoon he contented himself by saying he never had been in a speakeasy, and anyhow, "It isn't my duty to investigate but to prosecute."

To Return to Bishop.

We will resume the interview with the bishop. It concerns Texas Guinan and Helen Morgan.

"The trials of Miss Guinan and Miss Morgan made New York City a laughing stock all over Europe," said the bishop. Several of the boys were curious as to just what a European "laughing stock" looked like.

"Well," said the churchman, "Europe was laughing at the fact that Helen Morgan cried herself free and Texas Guinan joked herself free. I told my friends over there that New York is the greatest city in the world, but that it does not represent America."

Bishop Cannon attended a number of religious and moral conferences in Europe and found time to protest to the league of nations about bootlegging activities in mandated territories such as Palestine and sections of Africa. Treaty requirements call for prohibition in these areas, he said.

Bishop Cannon left tonight for Newbern, N. C., where he will officiate at the marriage of his son, Edward Cannon, on Tuesday.

GIRL ADMITS SHE SENT TWO WIRES FOR WAGGONER

Did So 'Unwittingly,' Telluride Bank Aid Says.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 13.—(AP)—E. B. Averill, special operative of a Denver investigating service, said today that Miss Frances Carlson, 15, stenographer in the Bank of Telluride, told him "unwittingly" she sent from Denver two of the six faked telegrams by which C. D. Waggoner sought to defraud six New York banks of $500,000.

Miss Carlson is one of the persons subpoenaed by a federal grand jury in New York as witnesses in the case. Averill arrived here yesterday with Clarence E. Downton, cashier of the Bank of Telluride, who also is subpoenaed.

Sent Wires from Denver.

The young woman told the detective she had sent the telegrams from Denver at the request of a woman whom she did not know and who told her it was a bit of work to be done for Waggoner.

Averill said he also had in his possession a "practice sheet" on which the young woman had copied the faked telegrams dictated to her by Waggoner. The detective said the "practice sheet" bore the names of the six Denver banks which were signed to the telegrams that resulted in building up the $500,000 credit in New York.

On this sheet, the detective reported, Miss Carlson wrote the messages dictated by Waggoner and when she had completed them without mistake typed each separately. These were placed in sealed envelopes in the banker's desk at Telluride.

Waggoner asked Miss Carlson to accompany him to Denver to assist him in some matters of business, according to Averill's information, and after having been met here by Mrs. Waggoner she spent some time at the home of a Denver relative.

Never Saw Woman Before.

Miss Carlson said that on Aug. 10 a woman, unknown to her, told her Waggoner wanted her to file two messages contained in a sealed envelope at a telephone office here. She said she filed the messages without reading them and then returned the envelope to the woman, who met her at a street intersection. Miss Carlson said she had not seen the woman before or since and had not learned her name.

CHILDREN FIGHT, BOY KILLS GIRL AND THEN SELF

Port Angeles, Wash., Sept. 13.—(AP)—A double tragedy that started as a spat between two school children and ended in their death brought sorrow today to the little community of Joyce, west of here.

While riding from their homes in Joyce to the Lyre River school in a bus yesterday, Jesse Spurrier, 16, seized a text book from Helen McClaine, 13, and threatened to tear it. Helen protested and complained to the bus driver. The driver made Jesse return the book. In doing so the boy said to the girl:

"You'll be sorry for that."

Last night Helen and her sister, Leona, aged 10, were walking along a trail in the woods near their home with milk.

The girls were suddenly confronted by the Spurrier boy, who carried a rifle. He fired and killed Helen.

A sheriff's posse found Jesse's body with a bullet hole through the head about 200 yards from where he had shot the girl.

People say of the Aquitania, the Berengaria, the Mauretania—"They have atmosphere."

"Atmosphere." A charm that is responsive—rather than assertive... Gaiety that waits for you, but does not follow you... Tranquility not intrusive—but not elusive, either...

Poise. A nice sense of the fitness of things. A civilized awareness of the fact that the source of amusing living is contrast... and that any mood pall. The mirroring, in Mid-Atlantic, of that most aristocratic life, the life of leisure in England... very 'country' by day, very brilliant indeed by night... ## ST. LAWRENCE POWER SITES GO TO MORGAN FIRM

Niagara-Hudson System Buys Frontier Co-op.

New York, Sept. 13.—[Special]—The Niagara-Hudson Power corporation, the $450,000,000 super-power system recently formed by J. P. Morgan & Co. and associates, has purchased the Frontier corporation and has thus acquired sites on the St. Lawrence river capable of the development of 2,400,000 horsepower.

The Morgan system, which already controls water power installations at Niagara Falls and other points of a capacity of 1,700,000 horsepower, through this purchase comes into control of nearly every important water power site in New York state.

Political Issue in 1924.

The desire of the Frontier corporation to develop St. Lawrence power became a lively political issue in 1924. The corporation owns riparian rights and lands adjoining the Long Sault rapids, on both sides of the St. Lawrence, together with the stock of the St. Lawrence River Power company, Ltd., of Cornwall, Ont.

The company in 1926 proposed to build a dam but withdrew its application for a license after Alfred E. Smith then governor, had opposed it. In the deal announced today the stock of the Frontier corporation was purchased from the Aluminum company of America, owned by the Mellon interests, the General Electric company and the Du Pont interests, which joined to form the corporation for the purpose of developing the St. Lawrence power.

Will Interchange Power.

The transmission lines of the utility bought from the Aluminum company are connected with the lines of the Northeastern Power corporation, and it was announced that a complete interchange of power will take place between these properties and those of the Niagara-Hudson system. To the east the Morgan system connects with the New England Power association and it is rumored that this will be the next organization to be acquired. The association's system extends through Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

The vast Morgan system connects New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and the southern and southeastern states with scarcely a break. Interlocking of control with utilities to the south is provided by the Commonwealth and Southern corporation. Thus, the country is divided from a public utility viewpoint into three groups, the Morgan group in the east, the Insull group in the middle west and an as yet unconsolidated group on the Pacific.

ASK CONFERENCE TO LOWER WORLD TARIFF BARRIERS

France and Britain Submit Plan to League.

GENEVA, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Great Britain and France today took another important step toward the realization of a European confederation of states along the lines of the United States of America.

A joint resolution recommended to the economic committee of the league called for a world economic conference, the principal purpose of which would be to lower tariff barriers and thus constitute "the first collective agreement for diminishing hindrances to trade and facilitating economic relations by all practical means." The negotiations are to affect both members and nonmembers of the league. The resolution urged nations not to increase their protective tariffs above the present level for a period of two years, nor to impose new protective duties, nor to create new impediments to trade during this period.

Sidetrack Chinese Demand.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

GENEVA, Sept. 13.—China's demand that the league examine its request as to the advisability of revising treaties with foreign powers was referred to the political commission of the league assembly today. Dr. Chao Chu Wu, Chinese minister to Washington and chief Chinese delegate here, denied that he had issued an ultimatum that China will quit the league unless it takes action in revising obsolete treaties depriving it of its sovereignty, but said that he had intimated that China's collaboration with the league would be withdrawn unless a favorable decision was obtained.

Sir George Foster of Canada today told the commission for lending money to prospective belligerents that it was putting the cart before the horse. He said the United States had a strong campaign under way to complement the Kellogg peace pact with a protocol by which all signatories pledge that they will not aid any belligerent financially or materially.

Would Refuse to Aid War.

"The signatories of the Kellogg peace pact renounce war, and the United States intends to refuse all credits, money and material for making war," he said. "We should insist that all members of the league promise not to furnish any elements for carrying on war to aggressors or belligerents." Dr. A. Soppie, representing Liberia, said his country had received a dispatch from Washington saying that the United States would participate in an international commission to investigate slavery in Liberia. He asked the league to appoint other members.

TRAYLOR PLANS TRIP ABROAD ON WORLD BANK JOB

Congratulate Chicagoan on Appointment.

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, who has been appointed as one of the American delegates to the committee which is to set up the Bank for International Settlements, received many congratulatory messages yesterday. The international bank is instituted under the Young plan, which takes the place of the Dawes plan in bringing about a settlement of German reparations and international debts growing out of the world war.

Chicago bankers hailed Mr. Traylor's appointment as further recognition of the growing financial power of the middle west. Mr. Traylor, commenting yesterday on his selection, stated that he would be glad to accept the appointment and help form the international bank. He expects to go abroad late this month, together with Jackson E. Reynolds, president of the First National bank of New York, who is the other American delegate.

Sessions of the committee probably will start early next month.

Explains Purpose of Plan.

The Chicago banker explained that the purpose of the Young plan and the international bank are to lessen the present difficulties of Germany in paying reparations and set up a new means for all international settlements. The plan has the support of seven nations, Great Britain, Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Japan and the United States, although this country holds something of an unofficial place.

Two representatives of each country will sit on the committee which will organize the international bank. It will be capitalized at $100,000,000, which will be subscribed by the national banking systems of the different countries, except that of the United States. As our federal reserve system will have no part in the international bank, it is expected this country's share of its capital will be furnished by several of the large individual banks.

Will Act as Clearing House.

In addition to being a medium for the settlement of Germany's war debts, the international bank is expected to be a clearing house for large financial settlements between nations, including gold exchanges and credits. It also would have a stabilizing influence on the currencies of the world and prevent abnormal fluctuations in rates of exchange.

The Master Bootmakers of the World are Our Style Authority

G. W. BUNTING LTD. LONDON BARTLEY & SONS LONDON ALLEN & BRIDGE LONDON MANFIELD & SONS LTD. LONDON

"Men's Wear" magazine is a recognized International Style Authority and gives to its readers in America advanced Style Reports from its Resident Representatives in London and its correspondents in every important Style Center in the World.

An article which appeared in August 21 issue, discusses fully the Regal Idea of Mass Factory Production of Authoritative Hand Made Originals and our Style Policy of sending our own men to the original source for Authentic Style Information—we quote:

"By instituting a system of going to style sources, the Regal Shoe Co. has followed the counsel persistently advanced for a number of years by writers for this publication. The value of studying recognized style sources in pre-determining fashions to come has been continuously stressed, the theory of style has been expounded, the typically well-dressed individuals at these sources have been checked by style observers and their reports issued in the form of percentages and graphs.

"Eight shoes appear in a collection of original English models and Regal approximations divided into three groupings. There are three styles for town wear, three for country and sports wear and two styles for evening wear. The originals are from G. W. Bunting, Ltd., Bartley & Sons, and Allen & Bridge, and in the originals they cost anywhere from £4 up to £12 guineas; the last, translated into American currency, is about $39 the pair. More complete descriptions are given in the captions with the pictures."

"Men's Wear" made their own photographs of eight Original Hand Made Models, which we purchased in London and are showing in our windows today, side by side, with the Regal Reproductions, just as they were photographed by this publication.

The most prominent and popular new Style is this new narrow square toe model, and the Last was whittled out by Bartley of London who holds Royal Warrants of Appointment to His Majesty the King and His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

The first square toe style introduced in America was a straight, slender Last, with a long, receding toe. It was known on the Continent as a French "duck bill".

In Bartley's new Last the forepart is shortened and has a rather broad tread, with outside swing, and I believe the refined Style Lines in Bartley's Last have added both Style and Comfort to this new narrow square toe.

Our Representative brought back with him the original Last that Bartley whittled out by hand—and our Last makers in America used the original as a model and turned out thousands with electric lathes.

The Upper Leather in Bartley's Original is an Imported Black Box Calf Skin tanned in Oosterwyk, Holland, and in the Regal Reproduction we are using the same identical tannage.

But there isn't any secret. It is the Regal Mass Factory Production of an Original Hand Made English Model—it is the Volume in 88 Regal Stores that make this Value possible in your Regal Store. We make 1000 pairs to Bartley's one pair—and every pair looks just like Bartley's Original.

Selling Style Instead of Price Gives an Upward Tilt to Sales Curve—Public Responds to Authoritative Style Reproductions of Shoes Bought in London

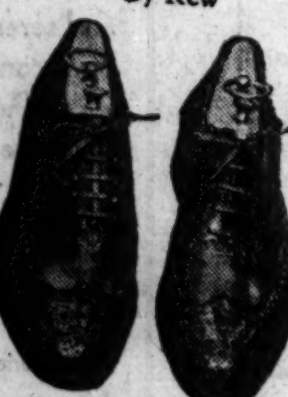

By Kew

IN a most conclusive demonstration the Regal Shoe Co., by a pronounced upward curve in its sales chart, exhibits something of the extent to which style in everything has captured the popular imagination.

Today style is one of the most important factors in making an article salable. Conversely, however great the inherent merit of an item offered to the public, if it lacks harmony with the accepted mode or authoritative style, its salability is seriously imperiled.

Style information now travels at winged speed. It travels to a public that is cognizant of matters which less than a generation ago were known only to those privileged by wealth or high social contacts.

The high style in which every successful piece of merchandise must be made today is the outgrowth of a demand for luxury at low prices and the ability of certain producers to supply it.

English full brogue galosh oxford made from Martin's dark brown Scotch grain by G. W. Bunting, Ltd., London. Price $10.00, 6 1/2 guineas. At the right is Regal reproduction.

Narrow, square toe last oxford made of black box calf by Bartley & Sons, London, for town wear, price £4, 10s, is shown at the right, and the copy at the left.

London, England, is one of the major sources of authoritative style in men's footwear, just as Paris, France, sets the mode in women's shoes.

The Regal Shoe Co. has been sending emissaries to leading bootmakers of London semi-annually, buying specimens of their product and appropriating those lasts and styles which experience has taught them would be best received in the American retail market.

It must convince customers by indisputable evidence that the models they are buying were genuinely inspired by the last turned out by London's celebrated makers.

To do this, they purchase forty pairs of shoes from Bartley, London, for example, and exhibit one of these shoes in a display window of each of the stores in the chain. Alongside of it is displayed the American approximation. This is done with a number of models from various British sources.

FARM DIRECTORS DEMAND CHANGE IN TARIFF BILL

Find Present Provisions
Are Inadequate.

BY PAUL POTTER.

A resolution adopted at the close of the two day session of American Farm Bureau federation directors in Chicago last night approved the stand taken by a group of farm organizations in Washington this week that the proposed tariff on farm products does not fulfill Republican party promises.

Working back to promises made by President Hoover in calling the special session of congress to adjust tariff rates, farm leaders made it plain that the rates in the present senate bill are inadequate. This they claim is due to large surpluses or to "failure" by congress to impose duties on competitive foreign products like Java sugar, blackstrap molasses, caseln, etc. and fats.

Urges Change in Bills.

The farm bureau directors, consisting of farm leaders from the principal agricultural states, urged the "senate" and the congress as a whole "to adjust the tariff rates" in keeping with the purposes for which the extra session was called.

The resolution reads as follows: "President Hoover, in calling congress into special session for a special purpose of adjusting the tariff rates, said in his message that he hoped an effective tariff upon agricultural products that would compensate the farmers' higher costs and higher standards of living, and that the government has a special man- date from the recent election to revise the agricultural tariffs.

Tariff Proposed by Hoover.

"The President further stated it as his opinion that the test of necessity for revision of industrial rates is in the main where there has been a substantial slackening of industry during the last few years with consequent decrease of employment.

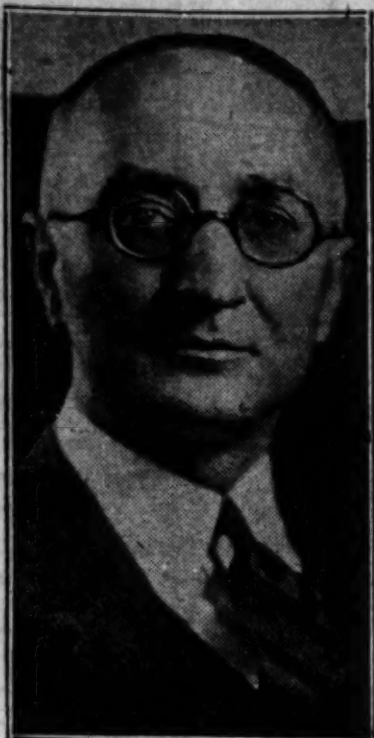

"Many of the rates of duty on farm products now proposed in the senate bill will be partly ineffective either on account of large surpluses or failure by congress to impose duties on competitive foreign products like Java sugar, blackstrap molasses, caseln, etc. and fats.

"Therefore be it resolved, That the board of directors of the American Farm Bureau federation urge the senate and the congress as a whole to adjust the tariff rates as above suggested and in keeping with the purposes for which the extra session was called."

Advocate Road Program.

A national program of road improvement for the 4,440,000 farmers who live away from present improved highways was advocated by the farm leaders yesterday. After six months of survey, the federation officers reported the urgent need for developing 144,222 miles of unimproved dirt roads which they claim now exist. The survey indicated that farmers of the nation are paying 7 per cent of the national highway tax.

TO LEAVE CITY

FRANK F. WINANS.

Frank F. Winans late yesterday made known his resignation from the presidency of the Chicago Association of Commerce and resident vice presidency of the National City company. At the same time he announced that he has joined a new stock exchange firm to be known as Baker, Winans & Harden, with headquarters in New York. He stated the new concern will begin business on Oct. 1.

Mr. Winans was elected president of the Association of Commerce last January, succeeding William R. Dawes. He had been prominent in Chicago financial, trade and civic circles for years. He is 49 years old, born in Toronto, Ont., and educated in the common and private schools there.

Mr. Winans came to Chicago in his early twenties. His first job was a clerkship in the Northern Trust company.

Directors of the Association of Commerce will hold a special meeting to select a new president next Tuesday afternoon.

IMPEACH STORY OF WITNESS FOR MRS. PANTAGES

Los Angeles, Sept. 13.—(P)—A pre-trial statement of John Conterno, a defense witness in the second degree murder trial of Mrs. Alexander Pantages, wife of the theatrical magnate, threw the proceedings into an uproar today as the state's move brought consternation to both sides.

Conterno's testimony yesterday that a "mystery car" forced Mrs. Pantages' machine into a head-on collision, following which Juro Rokumoto, a Japanese, died, was impeached by the state.

When the prosecution abandoned its cross-examination the defense forced it to introduce the entire statement by which it had contradicted Conterno and established that an unknown car might have forced the accident and that Rokumoto's machine apparently turned in the path of the Pantages car.

DEBENTURE FOR TARIFF REVIVED BY BROOKHART

Puts Farm and Industry
on Same Basis, He Says

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] Washington, D. C., Sept. 13.—[Special.]—The export debenture farm relief scheme today was injected into the tariff debate by Senator Smith W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.] Unless an export debenture amendment is added to the tariff measure with a view to making the tariff actually effective on agricultural products, Senator Brookhart indicated that he would vote against the bill.

The Iowa radical made a general attack upon the bill reported from the finance committee, asserting that it had failed to carry out Republican campaign pledges on agriculture. He renewed his criticisms of the farm relief bill as enacted in accordance with recommendations of President Hoover, which caused him to break with the President after having been one of his most ardent supporters during the campaign.

No Defenders on Floor.

The Democratic attack upon the tariff bill was continued in a speech by Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], who asserted that "it places an unnecessary burden upon the American people and grants an unjustified bounty to well organized and highly efficient industries."

The bill had no defenders on the floor of the senate during the day, but tonight Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader of the senate, in a radio speech maintained that it accords with President Hoover's wishes for tariff revision.

The senate, after listening to the Harrison and Brookhart speeches, settled down to the consideration of amendments to administrative provisions of the bill. A number of non-controversial committee amendments were approved.

Demands Tariff Equality.

Senator Brookhart, in advocating export debenture, said his amendment would provide for the issuance of debentures equal in value to the tariff duty as a bounty on the export of farm products of which there is a surplus. The debentures would be handled by the farm board, which would allot them to stabilization corporations exporting surplus commodities. By the payment of the bounty from the treasury equal to the tariff duty, Senator Brookhart said that the tariff would be certain to be fully effective.

"It is necessary to adopt a debenture or bounty in order to give agriculture a fair deal with other industries," said Senator Brookhart. "I do not intend to vote for this bill, either as it came from the house or as reported by the finance committee. The schedules must be made equal as to agriculture and industry and equally effective or it will not get my vote."

CHINA REJECTS SOVIET RUSSIA'S TERMS OF PEACE

2 Nations Hurl Charges of War Barbarities.

MOSCOW, Sept. 14 (Saturday).—In a fresh note remarkable for its brevity and negative character, the Russian government today actually rejected all amendments recently proposed by the soviet government for a projected mutual agreement to govern the control and operation of the Chinese Eastern railway in Manchuria.

Although the Nationalist government expresses its readiness to begin negotiations with Moscow immediately, it proposed conditions which were declared in responsible governmental quarters to be impossible of acceptance.

Proposed Conference in Berlin.

Ranking proposed that the main points in the dispute between the two countries be settled at a future conference in Berlin, adding that if the conference decided in favor of the proposed soviet amendments regarding the railway the Nationalist government would not object to them.

The Chinese note ignored completely the recent soviet proposal to replace the present Chinese chairman of the board of directors of the railway, whom Moscow holds as largely responsible for the conflict, and said that China cannot agree to appointment of a new manager and assistant manager for the railway as a preliminary to negotiations.

Russia Charges Cruelty.

A long list of alleged outrages committed by Chinese and White Russian guards along the Manchurian border during the last six weeks was made public last night by soviet authorities, who declared that all of the charges were amply corroborated by official documents and the testimony of eye-witnesses.

The soviet indictment alleged many executions, wholesale imprisonments, and cases where Russians were driven to suicide or became insane.

It was said that scores of headless bodies had been found in Harbin and along the Chinese Eastern railway.

Many soviet citizens are said to have vanished without a trace, while thousands of others were in insanitary Chinese prisons or concentration camps without sufficient food, shelter, or medical attention. In some cases typhus, dysentery, and other diseases had developed among the prisoners, it is charged.

Denied Medical Attention.

In one instance, according to the soviet authorities, Russian citizens who had been bitten by mad dogs were denied medical attention; women prisoners who were recent mothers or who expected to become mothers were denied admission to hospitals.

It was said that prisoners were given only bread and water, while whipping, solitary confinement, and other forms of cruelty were practiced.

Photograph Headless Bodies.

It was charged that photographs had been shown in Harbin of 23 headless bodies of soviet citizens which had been found in that district.

In several instances, according to the announcement, the hands and feet of imprisoned Russians had been as tightly bound with wire that they bled freely. In other cases the prisoners were denied water and their friends were forbidden to send them food.

China Makes Countercharges.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 13.—Soviet Russian citizens in China are enjoying peace and full protection by the Nationalist government and soviet prisoners in Harbin have clean quarters and good rations and receive good treatment, according to the ministry of foreign affairs. The ministry has requested Chiang Tso-ling at Geneva to point out to Russia, through Germany, that allegations contrary to this are "false and malicious propaganda without any foundation."

On the other hand, the Chinese assert that "Russia is perpetrating atrocities on the Chinese citizens in soviet territory. The Chinese government can definitely prove that Chinese property in Russia was seized and Chinese citizens forced to labor in military service, and that foreign consuls and correspondents from the frontier confirmed the fact that the Chinese vice consul at Blagoveshchensk was arrested. The German consul at Harbin affirmed that the soviet prisoners were well treated, proving that the soviet charges are fabrications."

The Pogramichnaya and Manchouli fronts were quiet today following the skirmish at the former city yesterday.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Two officials and three workmen were killed today in a dynamite factory at Grevenbroich in the Rhineland, belonging to the German dye trust.

8 REDS ARRESTED FOR PLOT AGAINST NORTH CAROLINA

Action Follows Seizure of Riot Guns, Shells.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Charged with conspiracy to revolt against the government of the state of North Carolina, in Gaston and Mecklenburg counties, eight men connected with the Lory mill strike in Gastonia were held late today in the Mecklenburg county jail.

Seven were arrested last night when police and deputy sheriffs, engaged in an abortive liquor raid on a rooming house here, found a half dozen shotguns and riot guns and hundreds of rounds of ammunition. The eighth was taken several hours later while driving an automobile which, it was admitted, belonged to the International Labor Defense but which was licensed in the name of Juliette Poyntz, in charge of the work of organization here.

Judge Warns Sheriff.

The conspiracy charge was placed against the men when Judge Thomas J. Shaw, veteran North Carolina jurist, called Sheriff John R. Irwin Jr. into court and warned him that unless charges were preferred before noon against C. M. Lell and C. D. Saylor, witnesses in the investigation of mob activities earlier in the week, they would be released.

Just before the "dead line" set by the judge, City Detective H. M. Joyner lined up Lell, Saylor, Taylor Shytle, Dewey Martin, John Gibson, Riley Ritch, Paul Sheppard, and George Saul and read the warrant to them. They were remanded to jail.

One a Ministerial Student.

The men all have been connected with the National Textile Workers' union and communist activities in this section, although it was stated by communist leaders that only Saul is affiliated with the Communist party. Sheppard is a ministerial student.

While events in connection with the men were proceeding rapidly, Gastonia police, staging a series of liquor raids, searched the home of Perry Lodge, where a number of communists and union leaders had been boarding, and claimed to have found a pint of whisky in the room.

of Caroline Drew, communist and union organizer.

Fourteen men, including two Gastonia police officers and three textile mill superintendents, were under bond for hearing today before Judge Shaw on charges of kidnapping and assault with intent to kill in mob activities against union organizers and members in North Carolina textile centers.

Mrs. Helen Lodge, Gastonia, keeper of a boarding house, which was visited by the mob and from which Wells, Lell, and Saylor were kidnapped and carried to a point in Cabarrus county, where Wells was flogged, told of the kidnappings.

Leads Crowd of Men.

Mrs. Lodge said that William Pickering, a Lory cotton mill worker, led a crowd of men into the house. "We aren't going to have these communists," she testified Pickering said. The crowd then seized Wells, she said, and asked him to speak. He had said only a few words when they started yelling: "Kill him, take him for a ride."

The men then took Wells to the porch of the house and there were more cries of "Kill him, kill him."

KENNY'S FAMOUS TONSorial ARTIST NERVOUS WRECK

(Copyright, 1929, By the New York Times.) LONDON, Sept. 13.—William F. Kenny's barber, Louis Arico, arrived at Southampton today. He was astonished at the ridicule being poured at him and his employer by the English press and people because of his free trip back and forth across the Atlantic. There was very nearly another sensation when immigration officials learned that Mr. Arico had no passport, but Mr. Kenny's intervention with the home office obtained a temporary passport good until next Tuesday when Mr. Arico returns to the United States.

With the fuss before, and this discovery afterward, I have become a nervous wreck—tired to death of being the most talked of barber in the world," said Mr. Arico gloomily.

Contrary to the widespread belief Mr. Arico declared he had not come to England to cut Mr. Kenny's hair and that he wanted nothing but a quiet holiday.

MARK TIME ON BOTH SIDES IN JUDICIAL FIGHT

Action Not Expected for Several Days.

Final shaping up of the judiciary election probably will not begin until the middle of next week. The re-elected Democratic and Republican conventions are expected merely to go through the motions of meeting Monday evening and then to take another quiet waiting period.

This situation ripened into apparent certainty yesterday when it was found that Republican sitting judges nominated on both sides would wait several days in which to elect under which party appellation they will run. Inquiry disclosed that the statutes as modified by the last general assembly allow a wide and safe margin of time by that the time for withdrawal does not expire until Sept. 25, a week from next Thursday.

Urban A. Lavery, attorney for the election board, is preparing an official opinion on the time remaining for this work, but lawyers who know the revised election statutes hold informal by that the time for withdrawal does not expire until Sept. 25, a week from next Thursday.

That there will be any changes in the tactical situation is considered extremely unlikely, since A. J. Cermak, chairman of the Democratic county central committee, who was out of the city when the proposal became public, has now joined other leaders of the fusion movement in disapproving what amounts to a suggestion for semi-coalition.

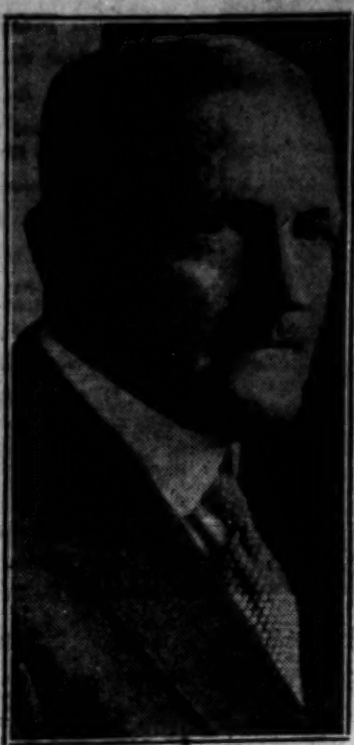

Defeated advocates of a Democratic city hall coalition have urged quietly for two days that the seventeen doubly nominated superior court judges run in the columns of the parties to which they belong and that the vacancies caused by their withdrawals from the opposition tickets be left unfilled.

Cermak Against Plan. "We have nothing to gain by that procedure and considerable to lose," said Chairman Cermak. "The high quality of our timber for which we did not have room on the ticket in its present form makes it obvious that we could strengthen ourselves if we had a few vacancies to fill. And if we declined to fill vacancies there would be a number of candidates and their sponsors and friends who would be irritated and oppose us on election day."

"And this semi-coalition would not materially improve the outlook for the sitting judges. There still would be twenty-three candidates for the twenty places in the superior court. I say in all seriousness that the one way for the sitting Republicans with good records to insure their own reelection is to run under the Democratic label."

"There is nothing scandalous about such a procedure. It has been done before and the people have endorsed it."

69 YEARS OLD

Gen. John J. Pershing, who was in France yesterday on his birthday, when he was cabled congratulations by Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall in behalf of the army.

It warmly. In 1921, when the same city hall crowd that is now behind the Republican ticket tried to raid the Circuit court, the Democrats coalesced with the Deane and Brundage groups and a fusion ticket including ten Republicans was run in the Democratic column and won by more than 100,000, a landslide for an election of this sort.

Same Lineup as in 1921. "We have almost a duplication of the 1921 lineup now, for I do not believe that the former attorney general, Brundage, had anything to do with the operation of the city hall machine. Certainly none of the new candidates are Brundage men. I look to see our ticket sweep the Brundage wards on the north side."

"I foresee victory, but I'd like to tell some of the sitting Republican judges that if there is any doubt in their minds they ought to recognize that their remaining on the Democratic ticket with the nine Democratic judges would make the election of the whole ticket a certainty."

Chairman Cermak is planning to open judicial election headquarters in his office building soon. The campaign, an aggressive one, he says, will be conducted from there by a campaign committee that will include a number of prominent citizens ordinarily unaffiliated with politics.

SURGEONS FIND LITTLE RISE IN HOSPITAL COSTS

Report Is Ready for Clinical Congress.

Although hospital costs, on the average, have increased 162 per cent in the past twelve years, charges to patients have only increased 62 per cent, according to a report on hospital standardization of the American College of Surgeons made public yesterday.

The complete report, prepared by Dr. M. T. MacEachern, associate director of the college, will be presented at the twelfth annual hospital standardization conference to be held here Oct. 14-18 as a part of the clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons. The congress will bring to Chicago more than 3,000 of the leading American surgeons and a number of prominent European members of the profession.

The report on hospital standardization is in the nature of a reply to recent criticism of the high cost of hospitalization. It epitomizes, according to Dr. MacEachern, steps that are being carried forward by the medical profession, and particularly by the college, to lower these costs.

Stay in Hospital Shorter. In 1916, the college figures show, the average stay in days for hospital patients in 600 American hospitals was approximately 23 days. In 1928 the average stay in days had been reduced to 11 days so as to fairly well balance the increase in hospital costs.

It is apparent, according to the report, that though the patient pays more per day for the service, the length of his stay is less than formerly. What actually happens, the report asserts, is that the patient pays more but for a shorter time, and very

JUDGE FINDS GRAPE JUICE TURNS INTO VINEGAR, NOT WINE

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 13.—(AP)—With the comment that "customers were led to the very peak of anticipation only to awaken to the fact that they had vinegar in the basement," Federal Judge Charles S. Davis today dismissed the $100,000 grape juice damage suit of the West Coast Vineyards company of Chicago against the Colony Vineyards, Inc., and the Italian-Swiss Products company.

In the suit the West Coast Vineyards company charged breach of contract through shipment of juices which spoiled, largely for lack of "servicing," which some witnesses interpreted as putting a "kick" in the grape juice.

Judge Davis found "against the plaintiff, but not for the defendant," holding in effect that none of the parties came into court with a cause of action.

little, if any, increase is found in the end if a comparison is made for similar services.

Presentation of the report will include public announcement of approximately 2,000 hospitals which investigation during the year has shown meet the requirements of the college with respect to proper and adequate facilities for care of patients.

See Need for Improvement. "The American College of Surgeons early in its existence saw the need for improvement of the average hospital equipment and practice," Dr. MacEachern said. "It proceeded to organize a program through which all hospitals over twenty-five beds are annually surveyed by competent physicians and are measured by certain minimum requirements which they must meet to be placed on the list approved by the college."

The report shows that there are 49 fully approved hospitals in Chicago; five conditionally approved, and 18 not approved. The Chicago percentage on the approved list is 75 per cent as compared to 69 per cent for the rest of the United States.

TRAIN HITS AUTO, WOMAN KILLED UNDER WHEELS

Mrs. Robert Richardson, 45 years old, of Calumet City was instantly killed yesterday when her automobile was struck by a Wabash passenger train at Hammond, Ind. She was thrown through the windshield and under the wheels of the train.

With one death reported in Cook county yesterday, the 1929 county motor toll was raised to $12.

Frank Buckley, 9 years old, 3052 North Kolmar avenue, died of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile while playing in front of 3136 North Kolmar avenue. Joseph Rozenbly, 838 Read court, was held for the inquest.

When Mike Miceli, 3232 South Canal street, lost control of his automobile after it had collided with another car at 324 street and Normal avenue, it plunged into a grocery at 505 West 324 street owned by Joseph Kasmack. The car stopped short of several customers in the store. The driver of the other car was Henry Newar, a butcher, 4128 Indiana avenue.

FIND KVALE HAD DYNAMITE ON EVE OF DEATH

(Picture on back page.) Fergus Falls, Minn., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Congressman O. J. Kvale, whose body was found in the ruins of his burned cottage 28 miles from here on Wednesday, purchased 10 sticks of dynamite the day before his death, county authorities learned today.

The congressman told a clerk at the hardware store here, where he purchased the dynamite, that he "intended to blow stumps on his farm."

Other Tall county officials, after reopening an investigation into the death of the congressman, late Thursday announced they were convinced Mr. Kvale's death was due to an accident. The body was then released by authorities and sent to Benson, Minn., Mr. Kvale's home, for burial.

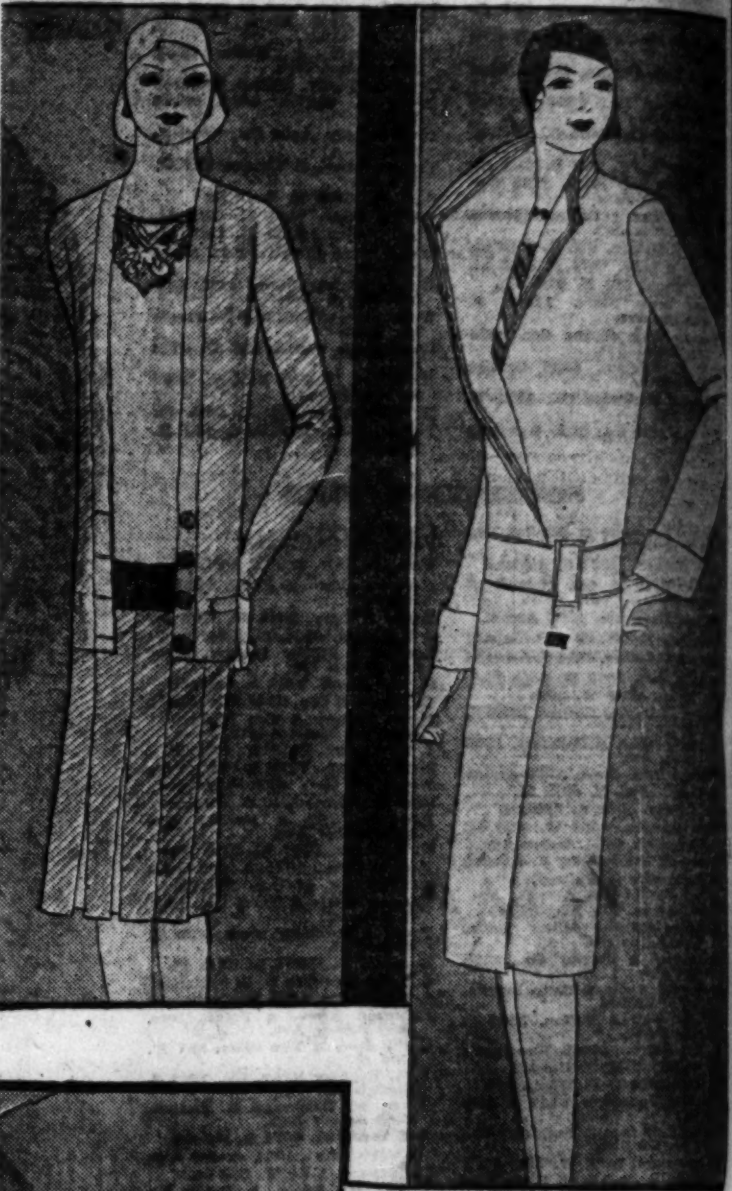

Floyd B. Olson of Minneapolis, Hennepin county attorney, a close friend of the congressman, is aiding in the investigation. Authorities today sought to learn what became of the dynamite purchased by Mr. Kvale.

that new town home of yours

baird & warner

You have been thinking about it—just as your fathers thought about it in the "eighties" and "nineties"—as your grandfathers did before them. But your problem is different from theirs—the town has grown, conditions have changed. No more are the brick or stone-front rows, or the big, ponderous mansions desirable or practical. The modern town home—the co-operatively owned apartment home—is the successor, because it meets the present day requirements.

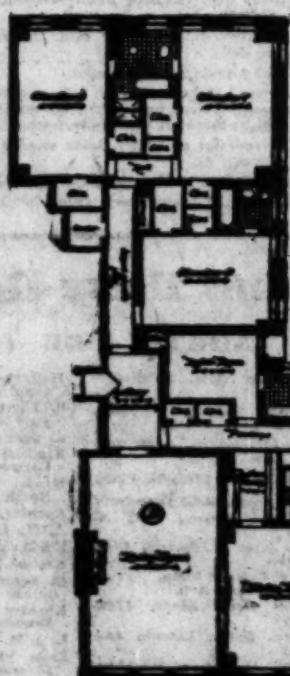

Since 1855, when the founder of Baird & Warner opened a real estate office in Chicago—then a little town of about 80,000 people—the firm has not only grown with the growing city, but has helped the city grow—has helped through several generations the better housing of its families. And now the firm, under the direction of the grandson of the founder, an organization of unusually able executives, is doing more than ever in the successful promotion of better, more modern homes.

Of all the successful co-operative apartment enterprises Baird & Warner have offered, "3240 Sheridan Road" is probably the most notable. The building itself, impressive in its architectural dignity and beauty of style, appeals to one's pride of home. Its location is unique—in an exclusive neighborhood, handy to excellent transportation, plenty of sunlight and air, and with attractive vistas over park, yacht harbor and lake.

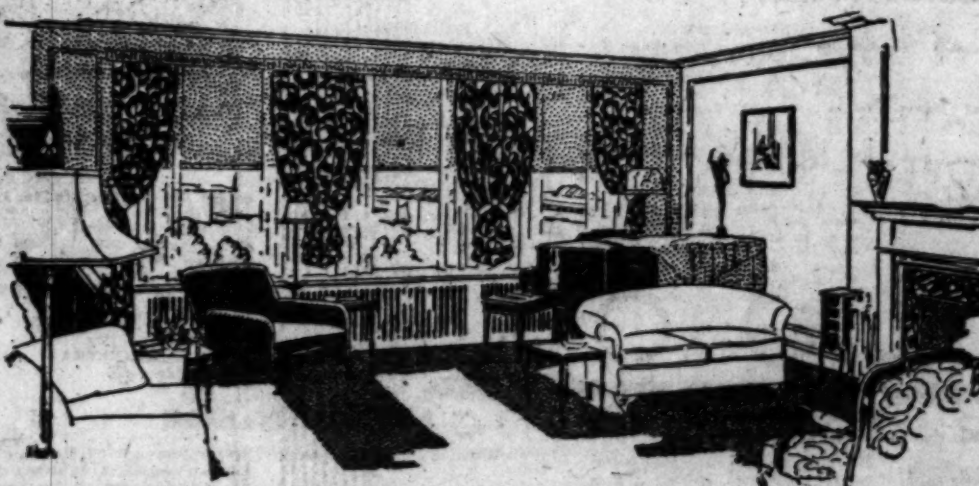

The apartment homes themselves must be seen to be appreciated. One apartment has been completely furnished as a help for you to better visualize yours. Your inspection of it is invited. Our representative is on the premises at all times, or detailed information can be had at any of our offices.

COUNTY SPEEDS ROAD WORK AS WINTER NEARS

Cermak Proposes to Let
More Contracts.

BY HAL FOUST.

President Cermak of the county board, disappointed by Gov. Emmerson's decision not to spend gasoline tax revenue on the roads this year, yesterday directed that work be rushed on arterial highways with county funds so as to get them into the best possible shape before the end of the road building season, about Dec. 1.

The governor will not authorize expenditure of the fuel tax fund until the Supreme court disposes of a suit brought by the Chicago Motor Coach company attacking the constitutionality of the revenue act.

Mr. Cermak prepared to let contracts for work on Milwaukee avenue, Lake street, Ashland avenue, and the Waukegan road. At the same time a special subcommittee of the county board recommended the award of contracts for the paving of the southwest highway between 93d and 111th streets and for the construction of a grade separation at the Southwest highway and Main avenue.

Milwaukee avenue is to be widened to forty feet through the village of Wheeling, a distance of about one and a half miles.

The Lake street road is to receive a forty-eight foot pavement from last avenue to 9th avenue in Maywood. Ashland avenue will be paved from the Little Calumet river to 127th street. The width will be forty feet between 127th and 129th streets, and thirty-one feet from 129th to 119th street.

For the Waukegan road, route 42A, the narrow bridge over the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks at Techny is to be replaced. Owners of abutting property have agreed to furnish a right of way for a temporary structure. The railroad and the county have about reached an agreement on sharing the cost, about $55,000. The narrow bridge has long caused a bottleneck on the busy four lane thoroughfare.

The recommendations for the awarding of contracts on the Southwest highway have special significance. The bids were opened on July 30 and have been held up by the county board until yesterday.

The low bidder for both jobs was the Minder Construction corporation, which has not been operating in Cook county. A question had arisen as to whether the unions would furnish labor.

"I didn't want to let the contract," said President Cermak, "until I was sure the company could get union labor. Now I think the Minder corporation can iron out its difficulties this winter. I welcome more contractors into the Cook county field. We will need a lot of them here next year when the gasoline tax construction begins."

MISSOURI ASKS U. S. TO PAY HER FIRST FOR FLOOD CONTROL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 13.—[Special.]—Postponement of construction of levees in the Bird's Point-New Madrid spillway project in southeast Missouri pending settlement of a controversy involving property and flowage rights in the approximately 135,000 acres affected was urged upon President Hoover today by Senator Harry B. Hawes [Dem., Mo.].

The dispute centers upon the method employed in the Jadwin plan for Mississippi river flood control for the appraisal and acquisition by the government of property needed for levees and spillways or diversion channels.

"The people in southeast Missouri," the senator said, "whose territory of 135,000 acres of land is involved, are asking a very simple thing, namely, that their land shall be condemned by the government according to law, the value of it ascertained by a federal judge and a commission to be appointed by him, and that until this is done the work on the setback levees should be delayed."

Park avenue, south in South Park avenue to Dixie highway, south in Dixie highway to the Homewood-Lansing road, east on the Homewood-Lansing road to Halsted street, south in Halsted street to 14th street, Chicago Heights, then west in 14th street to the Dixie highway.

HALSTED STREET—Closed between 167th street and the Homewood-Lansing road. Traffic is directed west in 167th street to South Park avenue, south in South Park avenue to Dixie highway, south in Dixie highway to Homewood-Lansing road, east in the Homewood-Lansing road to Halsted street.

BURNHAM AVENUE—Closed between Sibley avenue and 130th street. Traffic is directed west in Sibley boulevard to Torrence avenue, north in Torrence avenue to 130th street, then east to Burnham avenue.

183D STREET—Closed between Western avenue and Dixie highway. Traffic is directed south in Kedzie avenue to Flossmoor road, east in Flossmoor road to Dixie highway, then north to 183d street.

The survey was prepared by Maj. George Quinlan, county superintendent of highways.

THE COMING OF MR. MACDONALD.

The official announcement that the British prime minister will visit Washington, sailing Sept. 28, is both gratifying to the strong American spirit of hospitality and international good will and evidence that negotiations for a naval agreement between the two great naval powers have proceeded well within reach of success.

Mr. MacDonald, both as a man and a statesman, has the regard of the American people and can be assured not only of a warm welcome but of a public opinion disposed to confidence in his character and intentions. That is a substantial advantage for any negotiator. He may also rely upon a general good will toward the great nation he represents and toward the cause of well considered reduction in naval expenditure and the elimination, so far as consistent with the requirements of our defense, of naval rivalry.

Thus far, of course, both the American and the British peoples know nothing of the agreement toward which our governments have been working, and it will be the American and British peoples, as Gen. Dawes has recently said, who must approve if there is to be agreement. The American public is at a disadvantage as compared to the British in forming a wise judgment upon any maritime question, through lack of experience and through preoccupation with their internal affairs. British thought has the background of centuries of maritime experience and moves easily in a field which is strange to Americans of this generation. Our foresight is short. Our perception of the factors involved and of the importance of concessions is inadequate. It is therefore the part of wisdom to act with care and restraint and not evidence of any lack of will to establish conditions of peace and amity between our two peoples. Our danger has been and is that our will to peace and accommodation will induce us to make unprofitable concessions which later, under the stress of national need, must be repudiated.

Against that error, which in the long run would prove as injurious to our pacific aspirations as to our self-respect, we must largely and in the first instance rely upon our representatives. In these we have reason for confidence, and we await the announcement of their proposals in the sincere hope that they have labored successfully for the elimination of unnecessary expenditure upon armaments, the avoidance of costly and provocative naval competition, the strengthening of confidence and amity between the two peoples and among all the nations concerned, and most important of all, the full protection of our freedom to protect our interests and fulfill our responsibilities throughout the world.

We name the last as most important, not only because it is the chief duty of statesmanship that it shall protect and advance the security and welfare of the nation which supports it, but also because sea power has always been and is today one of the greatest agencies of civilization and world order possessed by mankind, and if we are talking today of parity with the greatest sea power in the world it should be a parity of strength and not of weakness.

A CHICAGO BANKER AND THE INTERNATIONAL BANK.

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, has been appointed one of two Americans to serve on the committee which will draft the statute of the new international bank. The appointments are unofficial in that they do not come from the American government or from the federal reserve authorities.

Americans who are alive to the kind of realistic thinking which characterizes European statesmanship have shown little enthusiasm for the international bank provided in the Young settlement. The United States now dominates world finance. There is some reason to fear that the bank may serve to limit our financial independence in the interest of other and less successful nations; and there is also reason to fear that the bank may be used as an instrument for influencing the balance of power in Europe. It is even now being spoken of in league of nations circles as a means of providing loans to nations which in the judgment of the league council are the victims of aggression. If the financial resources of the United States were ever to be involved automatically in such a scheme we might almost as well be in the league of nations itself.

While we reserve judgment about the international bank, we are satisfied that Mr. Traylor's influence in determining the bank's character will be a wholesome one. Mr. Traylor comes of pure American—Kentucky mountaineer—stock. He has lived and worked in many parts of the country. By birth and training his outlook is American.

lean and not European. We believe he may be counted upon to resist any effort to make the bank a political agency and instead to confine its activities to the technical financial operations having to do with the transfer of funds from one nation to another and the functions for which it was deliberately created. Thus limited, the bank may prove useful to the United States.

Mr. Traylor's appointment is, it may be noted in passing, another tribute to the quality of mid-western banking. When Europe was looking for a man to end the financial chaos resulting from the war and the destructive peace which followed it, Europe turned to Chicago for Charles Dawes. Now Europe has drafted Mr. Traylor. Here is evidence of the breadth of outlook and experience which are now to be found in Chicago banks.

THE PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX.

The absurdity of our system of personal property taxation is well illustrated in the published roll of assessments against some of the yachts to do citizens of Chicago. A few of the appraisals obviously represented the true value of the property, but most of them were merely neighborhood standards, a grotesque compromise by which a superannuated levy is maintained. Friends will appreciate how some of the listed assessments are all but confiscatory, while others are preferential, indeed negligible.

The present system of personal property taxation originated under primitive economic conditions. When the capital items of an estate were tangible—melodons, watches, household furniture, to quote from the inventory—personal property could be easily appraised and the law could be, without injustice, followed to the letter. Now, however, that most of the property in Illinois is intangible, the law is unfair and unworkable. To avoid confiscation, the practice of accepting nominal assessments has developed, which is discriminatory as between taxpayers and is abused by petty politicians.

A citizens' committee has been assigned to study the personal property tax, with the view of suggesting reforms to be adopted by the legislature or at least of recommending methods by which the law may be administered by the assessors with the minimum injustice. It is not impossible that the committee will find the personal property tax impossible of adaptation to present conditions and therefore recommend its abolition.

PUNISHMENT FOR BOMBERS.

From Mr. Swanson comes the encouraging advice that the five bomb manufacturers recently captured by detectives for the state's attorney will be relentlessly prosecuted. The discovery and arrest of these criminals was splendid police work. If the state is equally competent and aggressive in the court, a verdict which may be a deterrent to the heretofore defiant bombers may reasonably be hoped for.

The authorities, it has seemed to us, have not been sufficiently sensitive to the enormity of the bomber's crime. The lack of effectiveness in prosecution has been an invitation for the bombers to extend their operations. Consequently the crime in this community is no longer isolated; it is the usual instrument of organized lawlessness.

The prosecution can check the spread of this form of criminality, if not abolish it, by the conviction of the five men charged with manufacturing and distributing explosives. Courage is not required to throw a bomb. The knowledge, therefore, that the state is not indifferent or powerless would eliminate that type of bomber who has a fear of consequences, a class which we believe is responsible for most of the property destruction in recent months and years.

JUDGES SOUTH AND NORTH.

The demand at the last session by Senator Cole Blaise for an unnecessary federal judgeship in South Carolina, which was successful under the peculiar processes of the senate rules, is characteristic of that statesman and of the attitude toward the public service of a good many politicians, south and north. But the federal judicial situation revealed by a Tennessee dispatch of Thursday calls for prompt correction. In the north, especially in the great centers of population and litigation, there are too few judges to handle the work, while in the south there are more judges than are needed. That is one explanation of the appearance of southern judges in the north, a resort offensive to local feeling and inconsistent with economy, efficiency and settled custom in our federal administration of the law.

If the northern districts need more judges, as they do, they should be provided by congress and not distributed as political spoil in the south to be loaned back to the north for service. That is surely a case of the tail wagging the dog. Judgeships should be created according to the volume of judicial business to be dispatched and not by log rolling or as sectional pork. The southern districts should have all the judges they need and no more. The northern districts should have all the judges they need and no less.

Editorial of the Day

BUILDER OF BRIDGES.

Ever since its discovery by Samuel de Champlain, for whom it was named, Lake Champlain has been until the other day a barrier to rapid transportation between upper New York and the New England states. Motor boats, it is true, have replaced the war canoes in which Huron Indians accompanied Champlain when he paddled down the Richelieu and onto the lake that was to bear his name. But the largest inland lake in the United States excepting the great lakes was just as effective a barrier to through travel up to August 2, 1929, as it was a hundred years ago.

The automobile, builder of bridges and tunnels and whatever other facilities it may require to make its highways efficient arteries of commerce and travel, does not permit such barriers to remain long. On Aug. 25 it eliminated the Lake Champlain barrier. At that date the bridge between Crown Point, N. Y., and Chazy Point, Vt., built for the automobile, was officially dedicated and opened to traffic. Buffalo went along for generations without a bridge across the Niagara river for vehicular travel. The automobile was no sooner well grown than it demanded and got the Peace bridge.

STRENGTH AND MENTALITY.

THE big, strong, healthy child is bright. The puny, bespectacled child is otherwise. The popular notion to the contrary is all wrong. The opinion that the superior child physically is also superior mentally as a rule was announced by Terman and Baldwin several years ago. It has been confirmed recently by Dr. Herman Adler and a corps of investigators from the United States public health service as the result of a study of the school children in two counties in Illinois. The study led to several conclusions, among which were the following:

The average weight of children with an I. Q. under 90 was 4 to 5 per cent less than that of children with an I. Q. of 90-100. I. Q. is an abbreviation of intelligence quotient. The intelligence quotient is supposed to be a measure of the intelligence, mental alertness or mental ability of a person. A ten year old child with an I. Q. of 100 is one with about the normal mental ability of a child of that age.

The investigation showed that the children of the average lower mental abilities were more corpulent, on the average. They also found that children of superior mental ability were about three per cent above the average in weight. The same general statements were found to hold true as to height, stature and vital capacity. However, the differences were not great.

As to the prevalence of physical defects and inferior mental capacity the findings had the same trend. Children with low mental capacity had more physical defects. Those with high mental capacity had fewer physical defects. The defects covered were: bad teeth, enlarged tonsils and adenoids, poor vision, enlarged glands, ear troubles, poor posture and many others. Of these defects of the ears, poor hearing, suppurating ears and other complaints seemed to lower mental capacity more than any other.

An association between mental incapacity and physical defects might have any one of three explanations. The physical defect may result in slower mental development; or, the family which would permit a physical defect to develop might also be one in which low mentality would be more or less expected; or, both kinds of defects might result from the same adverse condition of some kind.

Dr. Kemp and Collins, who report the result of this study, said they could not decide which one of these was the true explanation.

BLAME EATS AND GLANDS.
C. A. writes: I am a young man of 20 years and weigh 190 pounds. The fact that I am overweight does not mean that I am obese and that I have a cup of coffee; for lunch, I eat some salad and coffee; for dinner, a sandwich and coffee. Most people say I have "large bones."

What would you suggest is the cause?
REPLY.
Of course you are holding out. You eat more than you get down. You eat bread and much else than you have referred to. It is a large factor in your obesity—assuming that you are obese and that your weight is not proper for your height—may be disturbance of your ductless glands.

PUS BACTERIA CAUSE.
R. A. N. writes: Would you please give a description of the disease of which the son of ex-President Coolidge died?

He died from an infected wound. Pus bacteria got into his thigh stream and probably into his blood stream. The old name for the disorder was blood poisoning.

1. What causes people to be afflicted with May fever?
2. What are the symptoms of same?
3. Is there a permanent cure for it?
4. Is it contagious?

REPLY.
1. May fever is caused by a large dose of some pollen. It affects only those who are sensitive to the particular causative pollen.
2. Profuse watery discharge from nose and eyes, some itching of the nose or throat, general discomfort, sneezing.
3. It can be prevented. Many cases can be cured.

WHEN CHICKENS ARE ANIMALS.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—(Legal Friend of the People.)—What is the penalty for placing poison where chickens may get it?
J. S.
Whoever willfully and maliciously kills, wounds, maims, disfigures or poisons any domestic animal, or exposes any poisonous substance, with intent that the life of any such animal should be destroyed thereby, such animal being the property of another, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one year, nor more than three years, or fined not exceeding $1,000, or both. (Illinois revised statutes, 437.)
We incline to the opinion that chickens can be regarded as animals for the purpose of this question.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

EXPLAINING IT.

FRIEND DON: Well, Don, I thought I better drop you a note telling why I didn't turn in any Wake copy for Saturday and Sunday. It all came about because Uncle Dick pulled a fast one on the boss and has gone on vacation for approximately three weeks. You know what approximately three weeks will mean to Uncle Dick—about four weeks, or five weeks, or six weeks.

Well, it seems that last June Uncle Dick says to the boss, about a vacation, and the boss says what vacation, didn't you have fourteen weeks a year ago, which on a two weeks' annual vacation basis means you've had your vacations for seven years. So that ended that. But Uncle Dick is a wise old bird. He hasn't been around newspaper offices, and war correspondent, and foreign correspondent, and lecturer, and column conductor all these years for nothing.

So Uncle Dick goes and gets himself a nervous exhaustion, or a near nervous breakdown, or something like that, and simply has to get away. Of course, it's all right for him to go and get himself a nervous exhaustion, but I do wish he'd go and get it some other time than in Kentucky Derby season like last year, or in world series and football seasons like this year.

Now, of course, I go and get nervous exhaustions myself, but they're in winter when there isn't so much doing in sport anyway. In fact, I begin to feel one coming on now. As near as I can time it, it will culminate about the middle of February, so if there are any chores you want done around Miami Beach, or Schlemmer's quarrels with any other pugilistic gent, or anything like that, it might help to pay my railroad fare. You see, Don, duration of my nervous exhaustion is determined by my bank account, if any.

Well, Don, you may think I ought to have talked with you first because you're my boss. Once my sporting editor told me not to take any orders from any one except him, so when the managing editor told me to do something I told him he'd have to speak to my boss first, and he said who said so, and I said my boss did. Well, after the next pay day we didn't either of us have any boss. Now, I know you have a family to support and I have a family to support, with two daughters whom I'm trying to educate and bring up to be useful women, although I admit in this age of flapper daughters and flapper mothers there seems a rather limited field for useful women.

But, anyway, here's what happened: Your boss saw me and said Mr. Little is about to have a nervous breakdown. How would you like to TRY to do his work for a few weeks, and I said I always do what I'm told, but it's like this: Would you rather pay eighteen holes on your home course or eighteen holes on a public fee course, with five water hazards on each nine—not that I meant Uncle Dick was unduly addicted to water, you know what I mean—and he said, all right, you start tomorrow, and that's why I didn't have time to turn in any Wake copy.

But there's another thing, Don—about that world series ticket. I told you I tried to buy some tickets from Bill Vecek and reminded him that when we both were baseball reporters I was his roommate, and he said what roommate, so he didn't look so good. Don't say anything about it, but I feel Hank is going to be in charge of the line on Oct. 8 and 9 between 1 and 4:30 o'clock, so that ticket would come in pretty handy.

I'll see you around the office—but say, old top, why can't we have dinner together some night next week, especially if you buy it? Regards to all my sport department pals.

HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

BRAVERY.

You have plotted glowing pictures
Of men who braved the trails,
Have sung the praises loudly
Of men who followed solo;
You have written histories of men
Who dared the world, yet I
Would rather sit beside my door
And watch the crowds go by.

Once I took the trail that led
To mountains high and rough,
And soon I found that bravery
Was made of Mitter stuff.
Oh, you may go and fight the sea,
The mountains and the sky,
But I shall sit beside my door
And watch the crowds go by.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 14, 1864.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of War Stanton announced that he had received the following telegram from Gen. Grant concerning the impending draft: "We ought to have the whole number of men called for by the President in the shortest possible time. Prompt action in filling our armies will have more effect on the enemy than a victory over them. They profess to believe, and make their men believe, there is such a party north in favor of recognizing southern independence. Let this draft cannot be enforced. Let them be undeceived. The enforcement of the draft and the prompt filling up of our armies will save the shedding of blood to an immense degree." Gen. W. T. Sherman also has sent a telegram from Atlanta, urging the immediate enforcement of the draft, which is now set to begin Sept. 19 in all states where the quota is not filled by volunteers.

NEW YORK.—Employees of the quartermaster's department in and around Washington have been organized into seven regiments, five of whites and two of Negroes. Gen. Rucker commands the first brigade and Col. J. J. Dana the second.

NEW YORK.—The Herald's dispatches from the Shenandoah valley represent that the rebels have weakened their lines to the left of our forces and are massing towards the Potomac.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 14, 1899.

CHICAGO.—Western railroads surrendered to the demand of the people as voiced by THE TRIBUNE, and granted favorable rates for the occasion of the autumn festival here.

LONDON.—The British message to the Transvaal Republic in session in the generally accepted sense of the word and it does not demand a reply within forty-eight hours, the exact wording being a request for an "immediate reply." In Pretoria President Kruger and the executive council of the Transvaal Republic were in session until a late hour considering the note, and the situation there was regarded as extremely grave. Reports from news agencies are that Kruger has acceded to most of the demands of the British, but still denies British suzerainty.

CHICAGO.—The trust conference called under the auspices of the Chicago Civic federation began its sessions in Central Music hall, and at once there was a clash between the elements represented by the 290 delegates. Among the speakers were John I. Yellott of Maryland, Bourke Cockran of New York, Dudley Wooten of Texas, William Fortune of Indiana, Francis Thurber of New York, Prof. J. W. Jenks of Cornell university, and Prof. Henry Carter Adams of the University of Michigan. President Franklin H. Head of the Civic federation called the conference to order.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 14, 1919.

GALVESTON, Tex.—Galveston and other Texas coast cities are imperiled by a flood driven in by a terrific storm on the gulf. At 5 o'clock this morning a gale was blowing at 50 miles an hour. Streets of the city are flooded and people are fleeing.

ROME.—Reports reaching here are that Gabriele d'Annunzio, the Italian poet-aviator, arrived in Fiume with detachments of grenadiers and artille provided with machine guns and armaments of all kinds. The movement was made in violation of orders of the government.

CURRAGH, Ireland.—The commander of the 5th dragon guards admitted that "quite a few" members of the regiment had mutinied.

GLASGOW.—The Trades Union congress ended today. Two Labor members of parliament, acting with Robert Smille, the miners' leader, offered a resolution deprecating military rule in Ireland and it was carried unanimously. At Cork military and police raids in connection with the proclamation to suppress the Sinn Fein throughout Ireland continued.

NEW YORK.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a formal statement placed the entire blame for the strike of Boston's police on Police Commissioner Curtis. Mr. Gompers upholds the police in their action.

WORLD SERIES PRICES.

Maywood, Ill., Sept. 13.—It seems that after all the preaching that has been going on about good sportsmanship the owners and those involved in arranging the prices for the world series tickets are open to public criticism.

Evidently they do not want their real fans, those who have supported them through this year and years before, though the choice was not so good, to be among the chosen few to see the world series games. Maybe they are afraid that some one will throw a straw that in the field, and how would that look with a lot of swell people around?

I don't think those men responsible for these prices have ever gone into the grandstands to see what class of people are sitting on the ball team or they would have tried to arrange to sell reserved seats at a reasonable price. Perhaps they think $5.00 for a reserved seat is reasonable (only $4 more than during the season), but I bet the majority of the attendance will not be the real fans. As I understand the arrangement, it is compulsory to buy three tickets, and even if you were able to get $5.00 for one reserved seat, you must take three.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Allow me to suggest to the Rev. Shumaker that he request that a few drops of oil of Juniper Berries be added to the diluted alcohol instead of the buds, which he has been using. He will find the juniper berries will do as much for his kidneys as the buds. I might add that the juniper mixture will taste very much like good old time gin, which will do the stomach good, as well as his kidneys besides the pleasure of a tasty drink with a little kick in it.

THE CIVIC FISH HOUSE.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—It is gratifying, and may be of consolation to many, perhaps even including the designer, to know that there is a position from where that which has been called the civic fish house and a Doric locomotive can be seen to advantage. If viewed from a distance of about two hundred feet from its west facade, the lack of harmony between the three unrelated features which compose this design is not so apparent as from other positions.

BOXING THE RIVER FRONT.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—A boulevard on the north side of the Chicago river from Michigan boulevard to the mouth of the river should be permanently fixed in the minds of those who contemplate real estate improvements. The old Wacker building did not anticipate a Wacker drive on the north side of the river, and you have a resulting obstruction in the continuous drive which can yet be remedied.

It is only a matter of time when the commercial warehouse structures rearing their unsightly water towers will surrender to the call of high real estate prices and give way to magnificent buildings in the same manner that the Kirk soap factory departed. Cities should not turn their backs on rivers and lakes even to the extent of a couple of buildings or city blocks. Bodies of water always enhance real estate.

Nerve Expert Avers Mankind Is Mechanical

Man is mechanical, distinguished from other animal life by an ability to think, Prof. C. Judson Herrick, professor of neurology of the University of Chicago, asserts in a book entitled "Man, the Thinking Machine," published yesterday by the University Press. Man's extra mechanical attachment is the cortex, the wrinkled and convoluted gray layer of the brain, about an eighth of an inch thick, which covers the surface of the cerebral hemispheres, Prof. Herrick declares.

Such a mechanistic theory of life gives more basis for optimism as to the future of the human race than any other, he declares, calling it neither irrelevant nor degrading, but dignifying nature.

Prof. Herrick reviewed the extent of biological knowledge of the mechanism of the human body, especially the thinking process. His conclusion is that "organs of thinking have been made out of stuff that does not think, so far as we can tell, and they have been made by an natural process as have the organs of flying in birds."

"Hard thinking is real work," the book states. "It takes bodily energy and it leaves the body tired. A thought is a manufactured process as truly as a pair of shoes or a magnetic field. The general conclusion from a study of natural and artificial mechanisms is that these are all contrivances to do some kind of work and deliver some kind of a product. They are active, not passive. The energy and the raw materials are all taken from outside the mechanism. They come out in a different form and the work of the machine is to effect this transformation."

Jeanne Eagels' Eyes Periled; May Have an Operation

New York, Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Jeanne Eagels, temperamental actress and screen star, was a patient at St. Luke's hospital today undergoing an examination of the results of which will determine whether an operation will be necessary to save her sight. A physician at the hospital said an infection of both eyes had developed so seriously that an operation probably would be imperative. Miss Eagels was to have started work on a new talking picture at a Long Island studio today and also rehearsal for a stage production.

Orange Pekoe

does not mean

what most people think it does!

Thousands think "orange pekoe" means an orange-scented tea, or tea with an orange flavor. Others imagine that the words "orange pekoe" on a package of tea means "finest quality." Neither is correct.

"Orange pekoe" refers only to the shape of the tea leaves. The important thing to look for is the name of the country which produced the tea. India produces the finest tea in the world.

Leading packers of fine teas are now placing the map of India on their brands to let you know that you are getting genuine India Tea.

Tell your grocer to give you a brand with the map of India on the package. The map officially declares that the package contains not less than 50% of genuine India Tea.

Mme. Jeritza Learns Other Stars Demand Best Dressing Room

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
VIENNA, Sept. 13.—Austria's own Maria Jeritza again is embroiled in another of those fantastic rows that ever so often delight the theatrical world in this amusing, if diminished, capital.

While she draws most of her income from the Metropolitan Opera company in New York, she had the best Vienna decorators prepare the star's dressing room at the opera house to suit her luxuriant tastes, as she considers herself the star of the Vienna opera whether she is here or not. She had a new lock put on the door and took the keys.

Vera Schwartz, a soprano of the Berlin opera, arrived last night to sing in the "Rosenkavalier" and made preparations to move into the star's dressing room. Hearing that room was Jeritza's own, she served an ultimatum on Clemens Krauss, the harried young director who has hardly finished his first week at the Vienna opera. She would not go on if she couldn't use that room. No other would do. Mr. Krauss tried to explain that Mme. Jeritza was difficult. Vera Schwartz announced that she was more difficult.

Just recently they've taken up business careers in typewriting, teaching, positions in government offices, and social welfare." Upon her departure Miss Searle was awarded the Blue Ribbon medal of distinguished service by the emperor of Japan.

Wife of U. of C. Chief Prepares to Carry On Her Sculpture

Mrs. Robert Maynard Hutchins, wife of the youthful president of the University of Chicago, took up the duties of her Chicago home yesterday.

The presidential home at 58th street and Ellis avenue fairly reflected her love of color and sunshine in the yellow and greens which have brightened the reception room and living room.

"I don't want to make the place 'modern' looking," Mrs. Hutchins said. "That would not harmonize."

It is in the loft of the garage where she will spend much of her time. For she is assembling things to make ready for her hobby. Mrs. Hutchins is a sculptor and the loft will become her studio. Among boxes and tables were a few pieces of her work, including two portrait busts. She estimated that she had made about thirty-five portraits during the last four years, which she had sold for fair prices. She had made many other pieces, she said, for garden decoration.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

J. W. Morrissons Start on Trip Around World

BY THALIA

The James W. Morrissons, having been the bride of the family, Rosemary, and her husband, John Waddell Morrisson, headed eastward for a wedding trip, then to settle down in New York City, and are now anticipating a highly interesting trip of their own.

They are to be accompanied by their son, William, and will sail on the ship "Morrison," one of the most powerful vessels in town in matters of speed, and is to be a member of the delegation to the Institute of Pacific Relations, to be held in Japan, for two weeks beginning Oct. 1.

The Morrissons will have time for a trip to Japan before attending the conference. Afterward they are going on to Peking to visit Mrs. William J. Calhoun, whose hospitality many Chicagoans have enjoyed. Mrs. Calhoun was a member of the delegation to the Washington conference, which was organized by Dr. Ray M. Wilbur, who is now in Honolulu. Quincy Wright also is to be one of the delegation. He and Mrs. Wright already have departed. The Morrissons will spend around the world after visiting Mrs. Calhoun, if reports of the family's welfare are favorable when they reach that stage in their journey. While they are away, the young Robert Morrissons and his infant are to occupy their residence at 1431 State parkway.

Miss Emily Pope, daughter of Mrs. Pope of Glenview, and Miss Margaret Emily Lynde, the Corneliuss Lynde daughter, made their respective debuts yesterday afternoon and evening. Mr. and Mrs. Lynde gave a party at the Indian Hill Country club for the young women. Miss Pope's party, a dinner dance, was at the Skokie Country club. Miss Pope wore a gown of blue satin trimmed with gardenias, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias. Her assistants were Clara Gerry, Ruth Fisher, Eleanor Chapman, Anne Small, Catherine, Betty Parker, Frances Van Dusen, Miss Pope, Joy Fairman, Janet Kirk, Helen Bell, Grace Dewes, and Betty Durham.

The event was the children's play school, staged in the Baltimore stadium, but to the dismay of many of the 1,000 children who took part and their thousands among the spectators, the cake was not cut. It was the kind to be seen; not the edible variety.

In the meantime, however, the children had a school holiday for the night.

Sixty years ago seven college girls in Mount Pleasant, Pa., founded a society. Next Tuesday that society, grown into the P. E. O. Sisterhood, a national organization with a membership of 48,000, will hold its international convention in the Stevens hotel.

More than 3,000 delegates and visitors are expected to attend. The convention will be featured by the official talking over by the sisterhood of the Stevens hotel.

Administration of Cotter college, a junior college for women at Nevada, Mo., which was presented to the organization by Mrs. Virginia Cotter Stockard, its founder.

P. E. O. members have contributed in the last quarter of a century $500,000 to an educational fund which has helped 1,500 girls to complete their education. Mrs. Mabel T. Frisbie of Bushnell, Ill., Illinois state president, pointed out. It has completed at Mount Pleasant, Pa., a $150,000 memorial library.

Lorado Taft, sculptor, will be the principal speaker at a formal dinner to be given Tuesday evening for which 3,000 reservations have been made.

While the last two of the original seven founders of the sisterhood died during the last year, three of the earliest initiates of 1929 will attend the convention. They are Mrs. Lulu Corbitt Williams, 1940 Sheridan road, Evanston; Miss Irene Ambler of Colorado Springs; Mrs. Elizabeth Ogilvie Croft of Denver, Colo. The Rev. C. L. Stafford of Muscatine, Ia., husband of one of the founders, will give the invocation.

Another feature of the convention, which will start Sept. 20, will be the presentation of the portraits of the seven founders.

Arrangements for entertaining the delegates and visitors to Chicago are in the hands of Mrs. John B. Mudge, 5131 Ellis avenue, general chairman for Illinois. Forty chapters of the sisterhood are in the Chicago area. All have combined in arranging the entertainment.

Mrs. Ola Babcock Miller of Iowa City, president of the international chapter, will preside.

Mrs. Gann wore a smart costume of black satin with a white felt hat trimmed with black velvet ribbon. Mrs. Good was in a suit of white wool with a smart hat of bright red. Mrs. Large wore an ensemble of beige with small beige felt hat. Secretary Good was in the party and after the guests had been received the party went below and had luncheon. ## WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune From Service.]
Washington, D. C., Sept. 13.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brisbane of New York, who were overnight and dinner guests of President Hoover in the White House last night, returned today to their homes.

Mrs. Hoover and her younger son, Allan, who have been motoring in Virginia and stayed several days at Hot Springs, Va., returned to the White House tonight.

Mrs. E. E. Gann, sister of the Vice President, headed the receiving line on the coast guard ship Mendota this afternoon, which carried the official guests to view the races for the President's cup, held on the Potomac. Mrs. Gann, wife of Admiral Frederick C. Gann, of the coast guard service, was the official hostess of the Mendota and made the presentations.

Others in the line were Mrs. Good, wife of the secretary of the navy, and Mrs. J. H. Large, sister of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, a guest at the White House. The Persian minister and the district commissioner and wives also were aboard.

Mrs. Gann wore a smart costume of black satin with a white felt hat trimmed with black velvet ribbon. Mrs. Good was in a suit of white wool with a smart hat of bright red. # Working Mother Has a Difficult Situation to Meet

My Study
Montgomery
Bonny

A mother who has to be away from home writes:

"I have had the responsibility of my children for years. Since I had to leave the training to others, my work keeps me away from home most of the time, except for a few hours in the afternoon, and my daughter does not get home from school until late.

"Lately she has developed a mania for the movies. She will save any money she can get hold of, or even take what is not hers, until she has a chance and will then slip downtown to a show, sometimes staying for two performances. She is fond of jazz music and develops crushes on the orchestra leaders; even going so far as to go backstage to meet them.

"Since finding out what she was doing I have tried to make a practice of taking her myself once a week and not giving her any spending money; but she saves carfare and anything she can get hold of and goes just the same.

"In every other respect she is a good, affectionate girl. When she goes off that way I punish her by not taking her to a show myself that week, but it does not have any effect and she still does it about every two weeks. I can't afford shows any more, and I don't believe it would be good for her."

As many mothers have a somewhat similar problem, the reply is quoted in part:

"I would suggest that you do this—and in fact it would help, perhaps, in other questions that may come up as she grows older and more independent, and you still have to be away from home:

Start now and try to treat her more as your equal. Let her feel that being the oldest gives her the privilege of your companionship in a different way from that of the younger children. Talk over things with her that concern you both. You might, for instance, begin to discuss money with her—how much you can spend for this or that, how much you allow for her clothes, plan them, etc. Don't stop her allowance, especially until this enthusiasm has passed. She is at an age for romantic ideas—often a harmless kind of long distance adulation. Still, one that you should know all about and which should not go too far.

Regardless of money, an intensive diet of movies is not wholesome at any age—particularly this one. The child is much on her own and has not yet at home to make things homelike for her, so she probably turns to movies partly for that reason.

Why don't you talk plainly to her? Tell her why you don't want her to go, aside from the expense.

FARM AND GARDEN
BY PAUL POTTER

Now is the time to get ground ready while it is mellow and crumbly so that peony seedlings you have sown to have in your garden.

Or perhaps you may be fortunate in having some peonies that can be divided. Beginning in September and continuing through October is the best time for this. Heavy clay loam may be tilled or wood ashes used for good results.

If you have put off starting peonies, thinking they are too much trouble, you will find yourself well repaid by starting with a few of the old favorites that always are on sale at reliable seed stores. Duchess de Nemours, Madame Forel, Modeste Gurin, Madame Verneille are among the less expensive, although the price one may pay is unlimited. Fine peonies range in price from 60 cents to $100 for roots containing from four to six eyes.

Why not start a border of these lovely flowers that retain such beautiful foliage long after the flowers are forgotten? Be sure to have them where the plants will be partly shaded from severe sun rays.

Just one more bit of advice—if you want beautiful peonies, plant at least one peach tree in their midst. Authorities on this flower claim that the peach tree has much to do with the protection, nourishment, and moisture of the peony.

"Stand on Two Feet When Speaking," Is Apt Advice to Girls

"Teach girls to meet people. Stand on two feet when talking. Don't mumble words. Speak distinctly."

The above order is taken from a review in the Journal of Home Economics on what employers expect of girl employees. The advice apparently was directed to an employment head.

And here follow extracts from reports made by other employers:

"Girls come in chewing gum and giggling. We can't have such manners in our place. We want refined types of girls."

"Her manners are so coarse we do not want her in our store. She calls out at other clerks across counters in a rude way. She has the latest slang. Her English is so poor we cannot have her meet our customers."

"Teach respect for older people and superiors. We have some 'girls' in this factory nearly 70 years old, and we do not intend to have any young whipper-snapper rude to them. They have served us faithfully all these years and we intend to look out for them."

"They do not know how to dress for work. Appear in silk garments, flowing chiffon sleeves, when they ought to wear simple dresses."

The above concerns factory girls and clerks, which proves nothing if it does not prove that the physical standard of the girl employee is being raised everywhere.

The advice to instruct girls to stand on two feet when talking seems to be particularly apt. The audience, however, may be extended to every branch in which women are employed; beyond that, in fact, to women in every walk of life. There is something of poise, assurance, and grace lent an individual that stands on her two feet when talking that isn't imparted otherwise. She gathers up her personality, as it were. It's not at loose ends, as may very well be the case with the girl who flops at the knees, with her legs half-heavily holding her up. There are all kinds of foot peculiarities you can think of that people employ while standing. Have you one? Watch yourself this morning and see if you stand on your two feet when talking.

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Here is a dress that will be becoming alike to large and small figures. Made of a novelty silk crepe in brown and yellow beige tones, with plain brown silk crepe used for the contrast, will be an excellent choice for general wear. It suggests the wrapped skirt treatment in the scalloped closing with a grouped, plaited inset below. The one-sided rever reaching to the waistline is decidedly a slenderizing feature.

The pattern, 2878, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 2 1/2 yards of 40 inch material, with 3/4 yard of 27 inch contrasting.

Knowing About Foods.

Probably I feel less distressed when criticized for knowing much about foods than for being criticized for any other reason whatsoever. Why should I not know something about foods since I have been learning something about them regularly every day for almost twenty years? Yes, and I know considerable about them before that, having been brought up in the country where I picked every sort of wild berry and fruit, climbed apple trees to the treetop for the early and unripe but sizeable and beautiful apples to make perfect apple snow, dug potatoes, picked peas and beans and even fished—no fisherman though.

In the letter the other day from one, who did not know chutney, is the expression "if we only knew," and I am sure there is an unfair inference that I am

"high hat" because I show I know. This is not consistent, for see how enthusiastic the author is about knowing. She says: "Now in my case, I was brought up in a home where the mother did not enjoy cooking and the table suffered as a consequence. My father had very small means and as soon as it was possible I started to earn my living as a stenographer which work I continued until my marriage. Then began a new and wholly delightful experience for me because I found cooking simply fascinating."

This young woman has now been married ten years, and has read everything on cooking she could "get her hands on." She has four children and till now she has thought mainly of preparing wholesome food for them, but now she can have a larger variety and it is her increasing joy to prepare new things. She wants to give her boys better ideas about food than

Black Satin Frock Is Something Different

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—There's class to this model—the geometry class. Again we see one more enunciation of the fact that if you can only hit upon some successful development of angles and triangles you don't need to dread meeting even your husband's old sweetheart.

This added testimony to the vogue of the geometry motif is carried out in the company of two other leading theories of the hour. One is that shirring is an emphatic addition to chic. Another is that nothing can exceed the choice of black satin as a medium for the wearable, smart "little frock," that important element in our wardrobe which sees us through most of the average day.

As will be seen from this model, irregularity of hem continues to be an insistent feature of the new mode. In this case it is achieved by means of a side drapery which in the front is attached by a square of shirring and which at the side interrupts the course of a geometric yoke. The division of this yoke is accented by a bow of self material repeated on the equally geometric yoke of the corsage.

As is to be expected, the waistline occurs at normal position and is accompanied by a slightly bloused effect. Shirring, such an important element in the season's dress mode, is not neglected by the modelist. Thus we find this model accompanied by a turban of black satin draped so as to include a square of shirring.

That most men have about what is a good dinner—beefsteak and apple pie. This letter has appealed to me greatly, yet how to prepare a program that would just fit her needs is quite beyond me. She will do it for herself, but she probably has not all the time to find after half or more of a lifetime has gone by, that we could so easily have had things in a different way, and saved time, money, spirit, and saved for joys and satisfactions that we have just found exist. It is too bad that the world makes us work out our own salvation, but it does, and the harder we work, the better

Thinking the official score might make a mistake and give him a homer, if he could not get the ball, he was certain that Klein tried to follow in O'Doul's footsteps but was flagged easily on Horna's relay of the throw to Taylor, his was followed by passes to White eye and Hurt but Cuyler pulled in heaven's name for the third out.

English Called Out.
 The Cubs might get a little damage in the third if Umpire Stark didn't make what seemed to be a bad decision. Anyway it was bad enough to enrage McCarthy. English opened

The inning with a single to center. Hornaby singled to right and English legged it for third. He slid in head first just as Klein's long return throw arrived. Umpire Stark had rushed down from the plate to watch the play and after it was all over he made up his mind English was out. It turned what might have been a productive rally.

The left handed Elliott in the fourth when the Cubs scored four times to take the lead probably wasn't anticipated by him. He had only the bottom of the batting order to dispose of but couldn't do it. He nailed Tolson on a pop foul but Taylor whacked a triple to the bleacher in left center. Blake whistled a boundary under Hurst's glove and it shot into right for a double. Taylor scoring. A double to left by McMillan let Blake run home and sent Elliott away in favor of Collins.

The splurge took another favorable development when McMillan, who was trapped on English's grounder to Collins, sneaked under Thompson and returned safely to second. Hornaby sent a fly almost to the fence in dead center, but Friberg hiked back and caught it. The bags became loaded on a pass to Wilson. Cuyler cracked a single to center, scoring McMillan and English. The return throw was intercepted and pegged to second with the idea of catching Cuyler. The ball rolled away from the glove. McMillan kept going after rounding third but was cut down at the plate.

Double Play Stops Phils. It also was the bottom of the batting order that worried Blake into the two runs with which the Phils tied up the argument at 5 and 5 in the sixth. Thevenow was up and he deposited and raced to third on Davis' single to right center. Collins added a single to the cause and Thevenow scored. Thompson did the same and the poorly Davis rumbled over the plate. Further trouble was avoided when Friberg grounded to Hornaby for a double play.

The beginning of the end for Blake and also for the Cubs' hopes of victory began with the first batter in the eighth. Hurst sliced a triple down the right field line. Thevenow moved him over the plate by singling to center. Tommy's next effort was a steal of second. Davis lined a fly to safety to left but Thevenow went only as far as third. McCarthy decided this was a good spot to dispense with Blake's services. Carlson wriggled out of the jam a bit by fanning Collins but Thompson followed with a long sacrifice fly to Wilson and Thevenow scored to put the visitors on in front by 7 to 5.

Hornaby's homer into the right field seats with one gone in the ninth was only part of the conclusion. Wilson followed it with a single to right and Cuyler ranned a hit to left. Collins was informed he could quit work for the day and Willoughby came in to pitch to Stephenson. Stevie cracked the first pitch, but it merely bounced to Whitney, who tossed him out. Willoughby threw four straight balls, more or less intentionally, to Pollock, killing the bases. Then Taylor leaped into the first pitch and Tolson was forced at second to end the show.

TRADE OUTLOOK
GROWS BETTER,
REPORT SHOWSExport Business Has Great Gain.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The signals are set for a clear track and full speed ahead for American business and industry this autumn. Both domestic and foreign trade are likely to set new records in volume, with both industrial and agricultural products probably will exceed those of last year.

The outlook for fall is excellent, after a summer of close to capacity operations in many of the major industries. The current survey of THE TRIBUNE says: "Steel and automobiles again set new records in July, and this time building joined them for the first time this year."

"Prospects for the substantial increase in farm income continue bright, although there will be no bumper crop. A strong and active stock market, with many thousands of investors profiting by recent gains, augurs a buoyant trade and industry. Business activity has remained at an exceptionally high level during the last two months, and while there have been seasonal declines in output in some lines, they have not attained the proportions usually connected with the season."

Need Billion and Half.
Approximately 1 1/2 billion dollars will be required from the American business market to finance business and crop marketing this fall and early winter, according to the American export council.

Exports of goods and services for the first seven months of 1929, totaled $215,000,000, an increase of $215,000,000 over the same period last year and would double the amount outstanding at the end of 1928.

The analysis also says it is reasonable to expect dollar acceptance will exceed $2 billion dollars within a few weeks, which probably would result in the American bill market winning supremacy from the London market.

Our foreign trade is running abnormally large according to the department of commerce. Although August exports usually are low, the total of $215,000,000 last month has been exceeded only once since 1928. Exports of goods and services for the first seven months of 1929, totaled $215,000,000, an increase of $215,000,000 over the same period last year and would double the amount outstanding at the end of 1928.

For the eight months this year, our exports totaled $2,477,375,000, an increase of nearly $272,000,000 over the same period last year, while imports of $2,018,942,000 showed a gain of more than $244,000,000. Our favorable balance was nearly $458,000,000. In the first six months of 1929, compared with $1,448,899,272 for the same period last year, the corresponding period of 1928, an aggregate rise of 64.4 per cent.

The weekly mercantile reviews appearing yesterday continue in an optimistic vein.

"Wholesale and retail trade for the week were slightly better, as a whole, than a year ago, while industry was generally above last year's levels," the reviews say. "Trade was mostly aided by cooler weather, the new parts of the country, the opening of schools and the general expansion in buying that usually follows the close of the vacation season."

Business Record Good.
"With only two weeks of the third quarter of the year remaining, there is a assurance of the period in various branches of business," Dun's review says. "Prospects for the future are mainly encouraging. Considerable lowering of crop estimates has not generally lessened confidence. To some extent, higher prices for agricultural crops have compensated for the lower harvest."

Chicago Experts to Act Before I.C.C. on Rail Rates
Chicago commercial interests will be heard before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the proposed increase in freight rates and allied matters, following the action of that body yesterday in admitting to practice the Chicago Association of Commerce.

British Imports Increase; Exports Decline in August
LONDON, Sept. 13.—The preliminary figures for Great Britain's overseas trade for last month show a drop in exports and increased imports. The value of exports increased by 7,642,000 sterling compared with July, and 3,000,000 compared with August last year. The exports were 3,475,000 sterling below the July figure, but were 1,000,000 sterling greater than August last year. Re-exports show an increase of 1,050,000 and 264,000 sterling in respective comparisons.

Late Advances
Make Gotham
Curb Bullish

(New York curb list page 26.)

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Sept. 13.—An impressive recovery on the curb exchange today which reached its peak after the turn of the final hour, contrasted rather sharply with the general unsettlement at the same time yesterday.

The opening was more a reflection of the irregular close of the previous session as well as the unexpected increase in loans to brokers reported late yesterday.

Favorites Well Supported.
It was notable, though, at the end of the first hour that stocks, especially the favorites, were encountering support. This was translated later into a buying movement that tended to wipe out earlier declines. Prices closed generally above the final levels of the previous day, with good advances scored by certain leaders.

National Public Service class B shares gained 3/4 points. The class A stock moved up about 3 points. It was not unusual in recent markets to witness a spectacular advance in one class of common stock of a company while another class of common of the same concern reflects this movement only moderately.

B Stock Carries Votes.
The class B stock in this instance carries full voting power. The company, which is part of the system of Middle West Utilities company, is a complete utility service to municipalities in 10 states and around the seaboard, making it a rather desirable property in the event of further utility expansions.

Power, American Superpower, American Foreign Power warrants, Electric Bond and Share, Goldman Sachs Trading, Foran, Ground Gripper and U. S. G. I. Old stocks were leaders in the recovery. Investment Trust issues opened lower, but appeared in better demand late in the session. Cities Service, selling ex dividend, was quoted 2 1/2 points above previous levels.

BANK FAILURES
IN ILLINOIS TOTAL
34 IN 4 1/2 YEARS

Since January, 1925, there have been 34 bank failures in Illinois up to and including June 30, 1929, for which receivers were appointed, according to a statement from the business survey section of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce. During that time, there have been 103 voluntary liquidations through sale of deposit liability to neighboring banks, 26 other consolidations and 7 banks closed and re-opened under the same charter by replacement of capital stock. There were, in addition, 26 banks which temporarily closed but later sold deposit liability to a nearby institution thus preventing failures.

Of the 34 failures, there were 1,403 state banks and at the close of business, June 30, 1929, there were 1,314, a reduction of 89 banks. However, in that same period, 99 charters for new banks were issued, including 27 in Chicago and Cook county and 42 in downstate cities.

THE DECLINE IN

SHARP AS USUALRANGE OF BOND
PRICES NARROW;
MANY DECLINE

New York, Sept. 13.—[Special.]—Activity in standard mortgages was at a low ebb in the bond market today, and price changes were narrow. Except for a few specialties, quotations continued easier.

Convertible bonds were carried down by the stock market, American Telephone 4 1/2s, International Telephone 4 1/2s, Lunt, Nitrate 6s, and General Public Service 5 1/2s suffering the widest losses. Missouri Pacific convertible 5 1/2s were firm.

Little attention was paid to the rails. Central New England 4s and Indiana, Illinois, and Iowa 4s were both off about three points. Hudson and Manhattan refunding 5s gained 2 points. Chicago Great Western 4s lost one point.

Rayman Automobile 7s were up three points to a new high record. Keith 6s gained more than two points, but Pathe Exchange 7s were lower. Shell Union 5s were soft again, probably in connection with offering of $50,000,000 additional debentures today.

Additional Light and Traction 1st 6s and 5s and Southern Bell Telephone 6s were strong utilities. New England Telephone 4 1/2s, New Orleans Public Service 5 1/2s, and New York 6s declined.

Burlington Ry. to Extend Yard
at Galesburg

A three year construction program for the yards of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad at Galesburg, Ill., entailing a total expenditure of $5,000,000 was announced yesterday by President F. E. Williamson. Directors will be asked to approve the plans at their next meeting. Mr. Williamson stated.

The improvements at Galesburg will be the result of a centralization plan already entered into by the railroad. Fewer but larger and more comprehensive freight yards are entailed in the program. Work in connection with the plan is already under way in Chicago, Omaha and Denver. The Galesburg yards are already the largest of the Burlington system.

Report Less Grain Traffic.
Recent grain traffic was reported by both the Burlington and the Chicago and North Western railroads. Mr. Williamson stated that heavy movements of grain in July accounts for a drop in the gross earnings for August of about $805,000 or 1.09 per cent compared with the same month of 1928. The movement in August this year continued better than usual but there was a decrease of 2,797 car loads compared with a year ago. September traffic is running a bit behind the same month a year ago, according to Mr. Williamson.

September grain shipments of the Chicago and North Western railroads are also running behind a year ago. According to E. W. Barnes, president in charge of traffic. Despite this, however, the company moved 1,546,182 carloads between Jan. 1 and Sept. 12, an increase of 48,884 over the corresponding period of 1928.

"There is a little falling off in shipments of automobiles due to buyers holding back for new models," Mr. Barnes said. "Merchandise movement is good and due to our provision for shipment of goods in ten to fifteen cars, and so far this year we are 20,000 tons ahead of last year, with a decrease in the number of cars."

General Business Good.
A nice increase in through passenger traffic being shown. Lumber business is not showing a gain over last year and there is a falling off of sand and gravel hauling."

Mr. Barnes added that there is no demand for grain from abroad and although the railroads have made special low rates for export traffic. He added that Argentina is sending six times more grain to England than it did a year ago.

Building Construction
Slows Down, Survey Shows

Unmistakable signs of a slowing down in building construction is in evidence in the new permits issued by the city of Chicago. The city's building department today issued 677 comparable principal cities and towns in the United States. The completeness of this survey, covering every state may be taken as a barometer in the building industry for the next sixty to ninety days.

3d Quarter Income Tax
Payments Delayed a Day

Washington, D. C., Sept. 13.—(AP)—The date for payment of the third quarter's installment of the 1928 income taxes is delayed a day this year because Sept. 15 falls on Sunday. The revenue bureau today called to the attention of the taxpayers that the law grants them this additional day. A clause in the revenue act provides that when the due date of tax payments comes on Sunday or a legal holiday the due date shall be the day following. Because of this the government will not receive the estimated $500,000,000 in income tax payments until Sept. 16.

GIGSBY LEADS DAY'S CHICAGO
STOCK TRADINGNew Reynolds Trust
Shares Sell Quickly.BY GEORGE HAMMOND.
(Chicago stock list page 26.)

Leaders on the Chicago stock exchange pushed up through a fog of irregularity to higher prices yesterday. Net gains ranged from one to nearly five points.

Grigsby-Grumow was the most active issue of the day, closing 4 1/2 higher at 67 1/2 after sales of more than 110,000 shares, despite the announcement by B. J. Grigsby, president, that there is no truth to the rumor that stockholders will be permitted to purchase shares in the company's European subsidiary. He added that the details of the financing have not yet been completed. He said sales and earnings are showing a steady increase.

U. S. Radio Another Feature.
Another feature of the radio division was U. S. Radio which reflected reports of record sales increases and improved earnings with a rise of 3 1/2 points to 39. Westark Radio Stores, selling ex-dividend 50 cents and five per cent stock, was 2 1/2 lower. National Union Radio, successor to Sonatone Tube, was up a fraction.

Ground Gripper Shoe again took the limelight in the general list, shooting up 2 1/2 points to a new high of 48 on an announcement that directors had declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents. The movement was also in line with the railroad improvement in the company's business.

Butler Brothers advanced 3 1/2. General Theater Equipment was off a point and United States Gymnasium, selling ex-dividend 40 cents, was 1 1/2 lower. Lynch Glass Machine was dull and unchanged. Announcement was made that the company is in receipt of an order from the Hazel Atlas Glass company for the entire machinery of a new plant being opened in Oakland, Cal.

Trade in New Trust.

Initial trading in the new Continental-Chicago units, composed of one share of preferred and one share of common, featured the investment trust group. Those units were offered in the morning at 68 1/2 and the opening sale on the exchange was at 85. The high for the day was 88 1/2 and the close was 83 1/2. More than 23,000 units were traded.

Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the board of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, who is to be president of the new investment trust, announced the stock was ten times oversubscribed. He added that subscriptions totaled more than $700,000,000 were received and the books closed. Insull Utility Investment was off 1 1/2.

The Houdaille-Hershey issues again led the automotive list with gains of 2 1/2 and 2 1/4 points respectively. Borg-Warner was down a fraction, and Bendix Aviation closed unchanged.

Reports Larger Shipments.

Time-Of-Sale Controls was unchanged. Julius K. Luthe, president, stated that shipments for the first three months of 1929 amounted to $83,453, compared with $54,453, a gain of 61 per cent over the corresponding period of last year. Shipments in August were $28,332, against $15,679 in August last year.

The Houdaille-Hershey issues again led the automotive list with gains of 2 1/2 and 2 1/4 points respectively. Borg-Warner was down a fraction, and Bendix Aviation closed unchanged.

CLASS 1 ROADS
SET RECORD FOR
NET INCOMES

New York, Sept. 13.—[Special.]—The class 1 railroads rolled up a record in net operating income of $835,508,000 in the first seven months of the year, an increase of 22.9 per cent over the $679,845,000 for the same period last year, according to the Bureau of Railway Economics. The eastern and western roads provided most of this increase, each group reporting an increase in net operating income of more than 24 per cent. The southern roads had an increase of 9.47 per cent.

In July the railroads had a net operating income of $182,783,000, which was an increase of 28.93 per cent from the $142,290,000 earned in July, 1928. The comparisons are based on reports by 182 class 1 railroads operating 239,529 miles.

A notable feature of the returns is that the roads individually and as groups reported greater increases in net operating income than in gross income for the seven months.

Commercial
Solvents
Plans 'Melon'(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, Sept. 13.—Directors of the Commercial Solvents corporation have declared, subject to approval of stockholders at a meeting on Oct. 3, a splitup of the stock on a basis of about 9 to 1. Stockholders will vote to increase the capital stock to 3,000,000 shares from 250,000 shares to permit the exchange of stock.

The usual extra dividend giving stockholders 2 shares for every 100 shares held also was declared payable Oct. 1 to owners of record Sept. 23. Although no official announcement was made, it was inferred that the company's policy of declaring stock dividends will be continued on the new stock.

May Buy Another Concern.
Stockholders will also vote on directors' proposed acquisition of Commercial Pigments corporation through an exchange of shares. This transaction, if consummated, will give Commercial Solvents a wider diversification of products.

The usual extra dividend of 50 cents a share, besides the regular quarterly dividend of $1, was announced on the common shares of Electric Auto-Lite, payable Oct. 1 to owners of record Sept. 24. This makes the third consecutive quarter that an extra dividend of 50 cents has been paid on the common.

Thompson Products voted an extra dividend of 30 cents on the common and the regular quarterly of 30 cents, both payable Oct. 1 to holders of record Sept. 20.

Chlorex Declares Dividends.

Chlorex Chemical company has declared quarterly dividends of 50 cents a share on both A and B stocks, placing them on a $2 annual basis, compared with $1.50 annually previously paid. A stockholders' meeting has been called to consider a contemplated stock dividend.

Stockholders of the Gardner Motor company have approved the proposed increase in its capital stock to 500,000 shares of $5 par from 300,000 shares.

The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad has declared 2 1/2 per cent interest on its 5 per cent adjustable bonds, payable Oct. 1.

BRITISH OFFICIAL
GETS BRITAIN
CANADIAN TRADE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 13.—The Hon. J. H. Thomas, member of the new British Labour government appointed by Premier MacDonald as the first minister of commerce in Britain, called for home from this port yesterday. Before leaving he made this significant statement in an interview:

"I didn't come over here for my health. I came over for business, and I got it."

Today reports came from Ottawa that a duty on American anthracite coal, at present admitted into Canada free, looms up as a possibility at the next session of parliament. A duty of 50 cents a ton, it is said, would suffice to divert much of the present heavy United States coal imports to Great Britain.

In the last fiscal year Canada bought from the United States $24,753,710 worth of hard coal, while only $3,683,136 worth was bought from the United Kingdom. The dominion also bought $25,424,255 worth of bituminous coal from the states, while only $473,839 worth of such coal was purchased from Great Britain.

During his trip to Canada, Mr. Thomas stressed in all his speeches that Canada buy more from Great Britain instead of from the United States.

BY FRED HARVEY.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, Sept. 13.—Capricious winds swept today's stock market, whipping prices every which way.

First there was a selling gust, superinduced by anxiety over the effect of the latest jump in brokers' loans. The general list was carried down anywhere from 2 to 5 points below yesterday's closing figures.

Then came a general rally as bulls went to the support of their harassed favorites. The early morning losses were wiped out in many cases, being made up to the extent of 1 to 3 points in the rest of the list.

After that operations became mixed, with groups and individual issues crisscrossing each other in hopeless confusion.

It was little better than a deadlock for the opposing market forces in the end, so far as the count on losses and gains went, but the big changes were nearly all on the upside, thus giving the day to the bulls by a safe margin.

Some Sharp Gains.
Some of the net gains—run up in individual demonstrations of bull strength—were quite sharp. May Department Stores, the sensation of the afternoon, was up 2 1/2 points at the close after being even higher. Commercial Solvents was up 1

WHEAT MARKET RATES AFTER EASY DECLINE

Argentine Rains Result in Temporary Drop.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Scattered rains in parts of Argentina, while instrumental in causing a decline of 1c in wheat prices yesterday, were not regarded as sufficiently heavy by the trade to be of permanent benefit. Futures rallied sharply toward the close and finished unchanged to 1/4c lower. Winnipeg finished 1/4c to 1/2c lower, Buenos Aires was 1/4c to 1/2c lower. An Argentine cable to the Northwestern Miller suggested a wheat crop this season of 200,000,000 bu, compared with 207,000,000 bu harvested last year, with the acreage probably 15 per cent less than in 1919. Corn prices held within a range of 1/4c to 1/2c, with the finish somewhat irregular, September being 1/4c higher, while the deferred futures were unchanged to 1/4c lower. Oats lost 1/4c to 1/2c for the day, and rye was 1/4c to 1/2c lower.

Light Rain in Argentina.

Cables telling of rain in Argentina were decidedly optimistic, but the whole suggested that they were light and largely confined to parts of the provinces of Cordoba and Santa Fe, with indications of showers to follow. The amount of the Buenos Aires market was not intended to confirm the claim that the moisture received was too small to be of material benefit to the new wheat crop.

A local house said Broomhall's estimate that 30 per cent of the acreage in Cordoba and Santa Fe provinces had been less suggested a reduction of 2,500,000 acres. As is usual, when weather conditions become the dominating influence, the market is very sensitive to any change in the weather conditions, and erratic fluctuations result. Buenos Aires flaxseed was off 12c for the October delivery during the day, following a bulge of over 5c in three days.

Considering news from Argentina, and the decline of 1 1/4c to 1 1/2c in Liverpool, the wheat market was regarded as having given an excellent account of itself. Foreigners were buyers of futures, here early and in large quantities, and the market was buoyed with eastern connections were good buyers on the break, while the selling was by locals and by scattered lots. There was some buying of wheat here against sales at Winnipeg to close exports, which had a depressing effect on the latter market at times. Export demand at the seaboard was again reported as slow. The local spot was firm and at Kansas City 1/4c higher.

Corn Market in Not.

Trade in corn was relatively small and a majority of operators seemed to be awaiting some new incentive before taking a decided stand on either side. So far there have been no reports indicating any improvement in the crop of corn, and the weather, while temperatures have been relatively low, and the maturity of the grain has been delayed to some extent. The forecast was for frost over night in northern Iowa and Minnesota, but within narrow limits the greatest part of the day. Country offerings were not large and the spot basis was 1/4c higher. In sympathy with other grains and on selling by scattered lots, there was a fair class of buying on the part of the local market. Data prices averaged slightly lower. Movement to terminal markets was not large and well below that of last year's, which was rather steady to 1/4c higher. Rye was rather good part of the day, influenced by the action of wheat.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

It is said that if Canada is to market its wheat in volume it must come from the pool making heavy concessions under the futures, as the latter are regarded too high for Canadian wheat attractive, even allowing for the superior quality.

Barley interests have hope for an export demand in the near future. Cables from Germany say that the Danubian prices are under America's. However, it is said that the Danubian crop is not large and will be used for very good which creates expectations of a foreign demand for American barley.

Interest in the wheat trade centers in Argentine news, which is mixed. Cables from the best informed sources regard the crop situation unfavorable, despite scattered rains, and traders believe that the moisture has come too late to be of material benefit. St. Feeling in all is nervous and the disposition is toward more caution in buying on bulges. Eventually higher prices are predicted, although irregularity for the next few weeks is expected.

The bull side of corn is losing strength for the time being and traders have taken the view that the original bulls who loaded up when prices were around 55 to 60 cents for December have taken their profits. The only important feature in the day's trading was selling of a good steady line for a local trader.
